Traffic Tie-Up at Subway

Here are two views of traffic lined up at the Park avenue subway, where one-way traffic is in effect during the construction of a 12-inch water line under the street. At the top, westbound traffic is held up on both Route 30 and Route 42, while eastbound traffic goes through the underpass. At bottom, eastbound traffic waits its turn.

Auto Horns Blare As Cars Wait In Lines at Subway

Traffic along Routes 42 and 30 hit a bottle-neck in Mansfield yesterday. Autos and trucks jammed up for three blocks on the three roads leading to the Park avenue east subway, where only one lane of traffic was kept open during the construction of a new 12-inch waterline.

Horns blared and the scene was one of confusion, especially between 2 and 3 p. m. when workers from Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company poured through the subway.

FDR'S FIRST

Buys Initial Defense Bond In Ceremony Tonight.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Roosevelt will buy the first bond and officially open the treasury's multi-billion dollar defense savings campaign tonight. The ceremony will be presented over all the major radio networks at 9:30 p. m. (EST).

The new savings stamps and bonds will go on public sale tomorrow morning at most postoffices, banks and other places.

The list of defense savings securities includes stamps in denominations from 10 cents to $5; one series of baby bonds almost identical with existing bonds of this type in denominations from $25 to $1,000; and two series of larger bonds in denominations from $100 to $10,000.

COUNCIL FACES SUBWAY 'CRISIS'

Special Session Called to Act on Legislation or Be Blamed For Delay.

Council meets again tonight—its fourth session this month—to approve legislation setting up part of the city's contribution to the Route 30-N grade crossing elimination, or to be charged with delaying the project if it fails to do so.

Plans had been made by the finance committee of council to recommend payment of $6,000 cash from the general fund and the authorization of a $25,000 bond issue at council's next regular meeting on May 6. Yesterday, it was told it must act immediately.

Fred Miller, chairman of the committee, said that Mayor William J. Locke had been informed there was no immediate need for passage of the legislation but that the state wanted assurance of the city's "good faith."

Lima Official Gives Opinion In 'Plow Woman' Murder.

PORTSMOUTH — (U.P.) — Mrs. Goldie Marie Pauley, 30, confessed "plow woman" slayer of her 46-year-old husband, Lee, was described as "sane and legally responsible for her acts" in a letter today to county authorities from Dr. H. M. Turk, superintendent of the Lima State Hospital for the Criminal Insane.

Mrs. Pauley, who has been under observation at the hospital, will be returned here to stand trial on a charge of first degree murder. She has pleaded not guilty to the charge by reason of insanity.

U. S. PATROLS ALREADY SAIL BATTLE ZONES

Washington Hears Warships, Bombers Active Through Counter-Blockade.

FDR STATEMENT CITED

Executive Says Ships Allowed To Enter Convoy Zones; Nazis Repeat Threat.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Warships of the United States navy, patrol bombers, and in all probability carrier-based aircraft, informed sources reported today, are already playing a vital role in patrolling ocean stretches which figure in Britain's "battle of the Atlantic."

This assertion was made after President Roosevelt's flat statement that American naval vessels were not prohibited from entering combat zones by any executive order and that they would operate anywhere deemed necessary for hemisphere defense.

Mr. Roosevelt, in telling this to his press conference yesterday, said that it did not mean that navy units are going into the European combat zone or that they would go in.

Nevertheless, apparently informed sources said it would be no surprise to them if the navy's patrol aircraft has been covering at least portions of area included in Germany's recent extension of her counter-blockade zone westward. They mentioned specifically that part of the counter-blockade zone which stretches from Iceland almost to the coastal waters of Greenland, where the United States has acquired defense base privileges. This has been a danger area for British shipping.

The potential effectiveness of the whole far-flung surface and air patrol is so great, in the opinion of these sources, that it may make the convoy question a dead issue.

Two proposals aimed at preventing use of the navy for convoy duty came up for action today in the senate foreign relations committee, but administration forces were confident they had the majority to shelve both of them.

Strategists who took a last minute poll reported that not more than nine of the 23 members would vote to approve either proposal in an effort to bring it to the senate floor.

TURNED OUT

FDR Refuses to Renew Army Rank of General Johnson.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— President Roosevelt, it was disclosed today, has refused to renew the army reserve commission of Brig. Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, newspaper columnist, administration critic and one-time chief of the NRA.

Correspondence in the case disclosed that Mr. Roosevelt, through his secretary and military aide, Maj. Gen. Edwin M. Watson, assured Johnson that personalities were not involved in the decision.

The commission was not renewed, the letter said, because of Johnson's age, physical condition and the fact that he has not been in active service or training for many years. Johnson will be 59 in August.

FUND DRIVE AT HALF-WAY MARK

Pledges to Date Total $34,714 With $9,361.25 Raised on 2nd Day of Campaign.

The half-way mark in the Mansfield Community Fund's drive for a goal of $64,375 was reached today as 300 workers prepared to submit reports on two days of solicitation at their daily luncheon today.

Jane Williams, executive secretary, said that reports made preliminary to the luncheon totaled $9,361.25 bringing the two-day pledge total to $34,714.25. That figure was expected to be increased at the luncheon report session.

The industrial division again scored by bringing in $8,075 of the pledges reported today. This division headed by A. C. Rhoads, now has raised $26,040 towards a quota of $39,525.

Mansfield Days Bring Bargains In Stores Friday

As regular as the birds and flowers of spring are Mansfield Days, the annual shopping event which gives buyers an opportunity to purchase needed summer supplies at marked savings.

Mansfield Days are scheduled for Friday and Saturday when 50 merchants in the city will offer scores of real bargains for the thrifty shopper.

Prospective buyers will get an idea of what to expect from the special advance page in today's News-Journal which lists a sample bargain to be offered by each of the 50 participating stores and concerns.

A special Mansfield Days edition will be published Thursday night by The News-Journal, listing attractive "buys" for everyone.

Free bus rides downtown will be offered shoppers from 9 to 11:15 a. m. Friday. The usual fare will be collected on the return trip by bus. Children should be accompanied by adults, bus officials said.

Stores participating in the bargain event will display yellow and black flags in front and pennants and banners in their windows.

U. S. Gives O. K. on Food Stamp Plan for Richland Reliefers

The U. S. Department of Agriculture today approved the food stamp plan of distributing commodities to Richland county indigents and told county commissioners a representative will be sent here immediately to put the plan in operation.

Replacing the present surplus commodities program, the stamp plan is expected to go into effect before June 1.

It will be administered by the county commissioners and will provide food supplies for indigent persons in the county's three relief areas.

The government's telegram to county commissioners today said: "The splendid cooperation of county officials, civic organizations, farmers, business men, and welfare groups on the occasion of the survey conducted recently in your county is responsible for prompt approval of the stamp plan.

Federal food stamp plan administrators were here about three weeks ago to conduct a survey and were assured then of cooperation in placing the plan in operation.

Under the stamp plan, relief clients will receive books of stamps from relief headquarters which can be used as money in purchasing food supplies at any store in the county.

The stamps will be issued to clients on the basis of their needs and redeemed by the federal government. The county, Mansfield, and Shelby will set up approximately $8,000 for the purchase of stamps to put the plan in operation.

FALLS TO DEATH

Mine Superintendent Plunges From Hotel Fire Escape.

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Barton H. (Pete) Engleman, 31, general superintendent of the Magnolia coal mine at Magnolia, (Stark county) fell six floors to death today from the fire escape of the Netherland Plaza hotel, downtown.

Detective Walter Hart said Engleman, rooming on the 10th floor, went to the 12th floor, walked apparently by mistake onto the fire escape and fell to the roof of an offset.

Nazis Reach Southernmost Grecian Shore

Berlin Claims Capture of 5,000 From Imperial Rearguard; London Says 15,000 Troops Fail to Get Away; Air Blows Traded.

(By United Press)

A band of British imperials went into German prison camps—and into the pages of history—today as Adolf Hitler's armies swept into southernmost Greece too late to prevent the evacuation of an estimated 45,000 Allied troops across the Mediterranean.

The British rearguard, with Australian and New Zealand soldiers fighting on the ancient battlegrounds of Greece, lost probably 3,000 dead and wounded. London estimated that 15,000 of the 60,000 British troops in Greece had failed to get away. Berlin said that 5,000, including one general, already had been taken prisoner on the Peloponnesus.

But at least 75 per cent of the B. E. F. was believed by the British to have been carried across the Mediterranean to fight again in Egypt or possibly in Crete.

First definite news of the evacuation operations came from London as the British foreign office issued a statement in which the Greek government was quoted as advising the British on April 21 to withdraw their expeditionary force.

The statement expressed gratitude for British aid but said that Greece at last was collapsing because of the German offensive in addition to the war with Italy and said that it was in the common interest for the British to withdraw in order to save their army for future struggle.

The British loss of 15,000 men, including the 3,000 casualties, compared to an estimated 30,000 lost in the Dunkirk evacuation, where perhaps 100,000 French troops also were rescued.

As Hitler completed his conquest of the Balkans, the war went on in steady fury on other fronts and there were increasing indications that all of the big powers were readjusting their positions to the swift changes in the progress of battle, with greatest interest centered on an official report coming through Moscow that 12,000 German troops had moved into Finland.

On the sea, Britain reported the sinking of 42,000 tons of enemy shipping around the rim of the North sea and Germany claimed that another 44,765 tons of British ships, including a navy escort vessel, had been sent to the bottom by U-boats and speedboats off the south coast of England.

CLAIM NAZIS IN FINLAND

Pravda Reports 12,000 Fully Equipped Troops Land at Finnish Port.

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW—(AP)—Pravda, Communist party organ, reported that four German transports had landed about 12,000 German troops equipped with tanks and artillery at the port of Turku (Abo) in southwestern Finland (April 26.

The troops proceeded northeast to Tampere April 28, Pravda declared in a dispatch from Tallinn, Estonia.

The report of the German arrivals was contained in the following nine-line dispatch printed at the top of Pravda's foreign news page without comment:

"According to reliable reports, on April 26 there arrived at the Finnish port of Abo four German transport ships from which about 12,000 German troops landed with arms, tanks, artillery, etc. On April 28, the troops began to move to Tampere."

Germans here asserted the Nazi troop arrival was merely part of the regular movement of troops through Finland to Norway which has been going on for some time under agreement with the Finnish government.

The continued presence of German troops in Finland might forge a new link in the Nazi chain around parts of Russia, following Germany's occupation of Rumania and Bulgaria and her advance through Yugoslavia and Greece to the islands off the Dardanelles.

Committee Turns Down Measure On Attorney Fee Publication.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—The senate conservation committee failed to recommend for passage late yesterday a bill by Senator Wayne L. Hays, D., Belmont, which would require conservancy district boards to publish fees paid attorneys.

The vote was 2 to 2. Senators Zoul and Whitacre voted for the bill and Senators Seibert and Ward opposed approving the measure. Senator Walter G. Nickels, R., Tuscarawas, was present but declined to vote.

CHASED, CAUGHT

Transient Asks Food, Steals Auto, Shelby Police Say.

SHELBY—Taken into custody yesterday after he allegedly attempted to get away with an automobile owned by F. O. Fisher near Shelby, Roy Hill, 28, colored, Cleveland, was held to the county grand jury today under $1,000 bond after pleading guilty to a charge of operating a car without the owner's consent.

Mrs. Fisher told authorities Hill fled in their car after she had made some sandwiches for him after he had begged food at her door. She called some neighbors along the highway in the direction in which he fled and they caught the colored fugitive after crowding the car into a ditch.

Hill was arraigned today before Mayor W. R. Morris of Shelby. Shelby police said they would bring him to the county jail this afternoon to await grand jury action.

Leaps for Swaying Destroyer Ladder, His Life the Cost of Failure

Downs Continues Thrilling Account of Episode In Battle of the Atlantic

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the second chapter in the thrilling story of Kenneth Downs, International News Service correspondent, telling of his experience aboard a flaming ship in convoy and later aboard a British destroyer in the Battle of the Atlantic. The third will appear tomorrow.

By KENNETH DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, (delayed by censor)—(INS)—The destroyer now was only about 200 yards away. The ride there was a roller-coaster trip. On top of the hills one moment, down in the deepest green valley in the next. We made it to the side of the destroyer in amazingly quick time. Lines were cast off. A Jacob's ladder was lowered. It flopped wildly against the side of the rolling destroyer.

Getting aboard was a job. The seas were so heavy that at one moment we would find ourselves almost flush with the deck of the destroyer and the next moment we would be down in a trough and looking up what looked like the side of the Empire State building and then again we would be heaved up on top of the crest.

Three seamen caught the Jacob's ladder while we were on the downswing. When we came back up our boat swung against them in a sickening smash. All were lost. Sailors on the destroyer were shouting instructions to catch the ladder only on the upswing. Some jumped for the side of the destroyer when we were heaved up and I elected for this method of boarding. Three times we were tossed up and a red-faced sailor on the destroyer yelled for me to jump.

But I knew one miss would be my last, so I waited until the fourth upswing, leaped, caught the railing with my left hand and felt myself jerked from the lifeboat, the sea dropping swirling far below. The red-faced sailor helped me over the rail.

"Good boy," he said.

"Thanks Pal," I said, rather foolishly.

I was herded down to the wardroom with other surviving officers. This room was about the size of a $3.00 accomodation at a New York hotel and was behaving like a crazy see-saw. The survivors, half of them full of sea water, were almost all being sick.

First thing I saw upon entering startled me. It was a large portrait of Abraham Lincoln. Under it was the inscription:

"Presented by Col. Frank Knox, secretary of the United States navy, to H. M. S. Lincoln on the occasion of her transfer to the Royal navy December, 1940."

I counted noses and as near as I could tell only four were missing from our boat. One of them was my friend Lieutenant Barter. He had missed in his try for the deck and was

MILLION FOR UNIVERSITIES STALLS BUDGET

Governor Demands Addition to Appropriation Be Lopped Off; Vote Held Up.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — An addition of $100,000 for university building improvements prevented a vote on the biennial appropriation bill today and helped presage delay in adjournament of the Ohio legislature.

Gov. John W. Bricker threatened to veto all the universities' building funds if they did not have the million-dollar increase withdrawn.

The inter-university council, representing the five state universities, was reported meeting today to consider the governor's ultimatum.

The $1,000,000 raised to $3,200,000 the amount contained in the appropriation bill for university expansion.

Most of the increase, however, required a deduction from the state emergency fund set up in the bill by the house of representatives.

Senator Frank E. Whittemore, Republican floor leader in the senate, said that now approximately $600,000 should be added to the emergency fund to make available loans for poor relief to the local governments.

Another increase of $600,000 in the bill, senate financial experts said, would throw the 1941-42 budget out of balance.

Senate leaders tentatively scheduled the measure for a vote tomorrow.

Meanwhile, the senate's Democratic minority caucused and indicated it would go along with the increased budget, provided the Republican majority approved an amendment prohibiting the expenditure of revenues in excess of budget estimates.

Although the house of representatives has voted to quit work May 8 and adjourn sine die May 20, Senator Whittemore said he did not see how the senate could complete its working program before May 10.

Still awaiting the senate's attention are bills to raise the safety standards of coal mines and liberalize unemployment insurance benefits.

The coal mine and unemployment compensation bills are the principal barriers between the legislature and adjournment, leaders admitted.

GERMANS LAND BY PLANES ON EASTERN SHORE

Officials Fear Attempt To Grab Control of Island From Within.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — A search is being made for an unknown number of German parties believed to be at large in Greenland, it was learned today.

The search is being conducted by the Greenland authorities, who notified the United States government through the Danish legation in Washington of the reported presence of the German parties.

Natives reported seeing the Germans land in several parts of eastern Greenland from airplanes. Some of them came in planes which landed on the icecaps while others are believed to have been landed by parachute.

The Germans were seen as late as the latter part of last month. The number of them at large and their purpose is not known, but it was feared that unless measures were taken to put a stop to these activities sufficient forces might be landed over a period of time to seize Greenland from within.

It was this fear on the part of both the Greenland authorities and the American government which led to the decision to have the United States take over the defense of that territory.

It is assumed that the Germans landed in Greenland speak Danish fluently and probably have succeeded in mixing with some of the natives in the outlying districts.

American officials are hopeful the mere announcement of this government's decision to defend Greenland will be sufficient to put a stop to any further landings of German parties in that territory. However, American armed forces will soon be stationed there to make doubly sure that no attempt is made to seize the island.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—Sometimes I fear the movie prop-shops are lacking in sentiment.

One prop is just the same as another, except for intrinsic value, to be filed away and card-indexed against possible future use.

But any fan knows that one prop is not just the same as another, and some fans would give a good deal to possess certain items as keepsakes.

I got to wondering the other day what had happened to the cause of all the trouble in "The Letter."

ROBBIN COONS

Bette Davis wrote it, remember, and the whole picture centered on her efforts to get it back. It was a prop that gave the picture its title, ruined the heroine's life. Where is it today? Is it among the Davis souvenirs? Is it filed among the prop-shop's "letters and papers" treasures? Has it been auctioned, in these days of auctions for this and that relief, for a cause?

Nope, it's just gone. Maybe it's somewhere among the miscellaneous papers in the prop-shop basement, but try to find it—"it's easier to duplicate it, if we had a call, than to keep it," they tell you.

"Props" is meticulous about most props—especially until a film is cut and released.

In a special room are held the props used in current pictures on which there's the slightest possibility of re-takes: A. C. ("Whitey") Wilson, the prop chief, has under lock and key such precious items as the cheap drugstore perfume vial Anatol Litvik had Ida Lupino buy in "The Gentle People"; he treasures similarly some worn luggage and other items used in "Sergeant York" and a framed motto in German from "Underground." After the films' releases, these items will be treasured, though less acutely, each in its respective storeroom niche.

But the letter of "The Letter" is no more.

"Kitty Foyle" had a "historic" prop in that snow-storm-in-a-glass figure used as transition between flash-backs, and this one seems safe. Ginger Rogers has it as a souvenir, though RKO has several duplicates. The same sort of figure used significantly in "Citizen Kane" (are we in for a glass snowstorm cycle?) was broken before the camera.

DENY SCHOOL TRANSFER PLEA

Richland School Board Acts on Butler Appeal; State Reports on Examination.

A request of property owners in Pike township, Knox county, to withdraw from the Butler village school district in Richland county had been denied today by the Richland county board of education.

Meanwhile, a state examiner's report today showed findings totaling $223 involving the Butler school district's books following a special examination.

Included in the findings were two for $103 against the school board and seven for $120 in favor of the board.

County Superintendent Boyd Robinson, who is clerk of the county board of education, said the petition for transfer of a part of the Butler district was turned down because the petitions contained insufficient signatures.

He said 75 names were needed and the petitions contained only 50 signatures.

Largest of the findings in the examiner's report was for $100 salary due David Blumenthal who was discharged as a teacher before the expiration of his contract last year. The amount, due from the Butler board, represents Blumenthal's final month's pay.

The examiner found a total of $111 due the district board from Lawrence Severns, M. Kirkpatrick and Clarence Daulp who purchased school buildings and lands on credit. The examiner pointed out that a state law makes it mandatory for boards to sell abandoned buildings and land at public auction and for cash. The properties involved were the Eagle Grove building, a shed at the former College Hill school, and some land at the Burger school.

HOLD ELECTION, DINNER PARTY

Mansfield Engineers to Entertain Wives at Meeting.

The Mansfield section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers will hold its annual election and ladies' night dinner party Tuesday evening at the Fairway west of Mansfield.

Nominated for offices in the organization are C. P. Robinson for chairman; H. O. Whiteley, vice chairman; William C. Bruckman, secretary-treasurer; H. E. Ashmead, publicity director; C. L. Lisle and H. N. Diller, members of the executive committee.

The party will get under way at 7 p. m. A "surprise" speaker has been booked for the after-dinner session.

REPORT BATTLE

Turkish Radio Broadcast Hints Naval Engagement.

LONDON —(INS)— Reports of heavy gun fire off the southern Turkish coast have reached Ankara, according to a Moscow radio announcement, the London Daily Sketch said today.

The report said a naval engagement was believed to have taken place.

BLUE-BLOOD GUERNSEYS BRING FANCY PRICES AT SALE HERE

Blue-blood cattle were placed on the auction block at Raemelton Riding hall yesterday and drew some fancy prices as approximately 700 people, the majority of them prominent Guernsey cattle breeders from all parts of the nation competed as purchasers.

Forty-four Guernseys were sold at an average price of $410 each. Bethany-Homestead Farms, of Homesdale, Pa., owned by Byron Miller, bought three cows for a total of $3,675.

At the beginning of the sale a heifer calf, donated by Roger A. Black of Raemelton Farms for British War Relief, was sold for $300 to the Guernsey Association at Hopewell Junction, N. Y., owned by J. C. Penney.

Top price cow of the sale was Franchester Kindness which brought $1,700 followed by Raemelton Corking Duchess at $1,125 and Raemelton Triumph Carmen at $850.

Cattle in the sale were consigned by breeders from Ohio, Michigan and Indiana. Raemelton Farm sold 10 Guernseys, eight of them youngsters, at an average price of $517.50.

Louis Merryman of Sparks, Md., managed the sale.

Another feature of the sale was the manner in which it was staged. The pure-breds were paraded on a center platform surrounded with greenery.

Mort Granger acted as auctioneer, and Gale Heifner, Ashland breeder, with eight animals in the sale, led the Guernseys to the ring.

Private funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the residence. Burial will be in Fredericktown cemetery.

Government Takes Over Struck Steel Plant In Canada

OTTAWA—(U.P.)—The Canadian government, meeting the threat of defense-strike bottlenecks, took over the Hamilton, Ont., plant of the National Steel Car corporation today in what it said was a showdown between its war effort and "the interests of one man."

The plant had been strike-bound since Monday, when more than 2,700 employes represented by the Steel Workers Organizing committee (CIO) stopped work on vital war orders.

Under an emergency order-in-council, Ernest John Brunning was appointed controler of the plant and given complete authority to conduct the business.

The unprecedented government action came when Robert J. Magor, company head, failed to meet a deadline on a government order that he rehire George Tanner, SWOC local president, who, the company said, had been discharged because he was late for work.

The SWOC, which called the strike, contended that Tanner had been dismissed, contrary to the criminal code, for union activity. Sympathy walkouts had threatened to paralyze the steel industry, supplying materials to plants producing war materials.

by REX HESS

I WOULDN'T for a minute think of interviewing Mansfield high school coaches on their opinion of the plan of the Ohio High School Principals' association to regulate all inter-scholastic competition, including athletics, through the principals' association.

Mansfield Principal Jesse Beer, president of the association, recently appointed a six-man committee to regulate inter-scholastic competition.

In fairness to Beer it must be kept in mind that he did not originate the plan. As president of the association it was his duty to appoint the committee.

I wouldn't put Mansfield coaches in the middle of an argument in which they could derive little benefit, regardless of which way the wind blows.

But I can quote for you Floyd Rowe, director of physical education in Cleveland schools, and an authority on the subject of inter-scholastic athletics.

"That plan was tried 15 years ago," says Rowe, "and resulted only in a series of experiments that broke down and killed the entire idea."

Since the idea seems directed mainly at outside groups sponsoring athletic events, it seems to me that the outside groups, sometimes known as General Public, should be the ones to take up the cudgels in any argument that develops.

And since the General is the boy who pays the freight for the entire school system through taxes, admission charges to various school activities, and donations, the General really should have a word, if he wants it.

It all depends on how interested the old boy might be.

General, you've been a naughty boy,
And so we'll take away your toys,
We'll cut your allowance, rob your bank,
And if we have to, Mama spank!

Reading Principal Beer's explanation in Sunday's News-Journal, I wondered what the reaction might be of the Downtown Coaches and citizens' committees whose hard work made possible the recent Mansfield relays. Let me quote from Sunday's paper:

"Beer said that several commercial groups and a few colleges have been planning inter-state competitions of different types without consulting schools scheduled to take part in the competition. Schools are just notified suddenly, according to Beer, that they are expected to furnish teams for the meetings. The principal said that such competitions usually result in nothing more than a lot of publicity for the sponsoring groups, sometimes at great expense to the competing schools."

Now all this may have nothing at all to do with the Mansfield Relays. The statement contains enough "outs" for the Relays to gracefully sidestep any present complaint. Schools were notified far enough in advance of the Relays date and no sandbagging tactics were used to bring them here.

But the Relays are inter-state competition, and they are sponsored by outside groups, and those outside groups should find out now whether future control by principals would handicap them in promotion of the city's biggest sports event of the year.

And I see nothing wrong in the favorable publicity which Mansfield has won through the annual Mansfield Relays of the past 15 years.

ABC LEADERS REMAIN UNDISTURBED AT TOP

ST. PAUL—(NS)—Leaders of the American Bowling Congress remained undisturbed for the third straight day today as the 55-day marathon went into its final days.

With less than a week remaining of the classic, the top scorers in each division were: five-man, Vogel Brothers, Forest Park, Ill., 2955; two-man, William Lee-Ray Farness, Madison, Wis., 1356; singles, Fred Ruff, Belleville, Ill., 745; all-events, Harold Kelly, South Bend, Ind., 2013.

Hamlin Hurls Homers

But Nobody Cares Now, Since Dodgers Won.

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer.

LAST June, Luke (Hot Potato) Hamlin was fined $500 by President Larry MacPhail of the Brooklyn Dodgers for throwing a "home run ball."

But yesterday, Hamlin fed two home run balls in one game to the world champion Cincinnati Reds, and nobody as much as murmured. The circuit clouts, one by Lonnie Frey in the first inning and the other by Frank McCormick in the last frame, were nothing more than marks of identification to prove that it was Hamlin out there doing a superb job of hurling his third straight victory.

In between the widely-separated swats, he allowed only two harmless singles, and the Dodgers whooped their way to their eighth consecutive triumph, 13-2. They are a redhot team, and they know it.

They fielded errorlessly and mauled five members of Cincinnati's cherished pitching staff, including Milkman Jim Turner, Gene Thompson and Whitey Moore, for an even dozen hits. One of these was a home run by Joe Medwick with a man on.

The Reds called upon Johnny Vander Meer to stop the Dodgers today. Yesterday's victory, second in a four-game series, enabled the Dodgers to hold a half share in first place in the National league. The St. Louis Cardinals, who opened their eastern invasion by nudging out the New York Giants, 5-4, came out with the same percentage, because they have played fewer games.

The Boston Bees, experts at prolonging games into extra innings, conquered the Chicago Cubs, 6-3, when Sebby Sisti socked a homer in the 11th with two teammates aboard.

Rookie Bill Crouch, who was one of the anchors attached to the bundle of cash Brooklyn gave Philadelphia for Kirby Higbe, pitched four-hit ball as the Phils plastered the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-2.

The Cleveland Indians maintained their firm hold on the American league lead with their fifth straight victory. They made 15 hits, five more than they had accomplished in any other game this season, to swamp the Philadelphia Athletics, 8-3.

More interest, however, was attached to the St. Louis Browns' beating of the New York Yankees, 3-2, in spite of the three-hit pitching of Lefty Gomez, who previously had won twice without a defeat.

The defeat dropped the Yanks into third place as the Chicago White Sox curbed the Washington Senators, 3-2, on the seven-hit pitching of Lefty Thornton Lee. Joe Kuehl drove in two of the winners' runs with a homer and a single.

The Detroit Tigers shattered the 15-year-old jinx of Lefty Grove to beat the Boston Red Sox, 5-3, scoring all their runs off the veteran southpaw star in the first three innings. Young John Gorsica hurled eight-hit ball for the Tigers and survived late-inning homers by Ted Williams and Jim Tabor.

Braves Tepee Gets Crowded

Seven More Candidates Report To Clowson.

The wigwam of the Mansfield Braves started to bulge at the seams yesterday as seven more prospective tribesmen reported to Chieftain Alex Clawson for the training grind now in progress at the Fairground.

Four of the newcomers have been assigned to the Braves by the Flint club of the Michigan State league, Mansfield's immediate affiliate in the Cleveland Indian's farm chain.

They are Infielders Bob Ankrum of Zanesville and Bob Te Struth of Cleveland, Outfielder Bruce Williams of St. Louis and Pitcher Fred Wollpert of Cleveland. This quartet was assigned to the Braves after a brief "look-see" by the Flint management at the Charleston, W. Va., training site.

Other additions making their first appearance in yesterday's drill were Outfielders Bill McGrath and Elmer Sielski, both of Cleveland, and Pitcher Art Paul of Elyria, a free-agent.

None of the players who reported yesterday have had previous professional experience. However, the diminutive Paul, five-feet-six-and-one-half, was with the Springfield, Mass., club of the Eastern league until a sore arm forced his retirement at the start of the season.

Prior to quitting the Springfield club last spring, Paul, a right-hander, made an impressive showing by holding the Baltimore Orioles to one hit in an exhibition game at Aiken, S. C. Paul says that the wing trouble that bothered him last season has entirely disappeared.

Although the other trainees have had the advantage of several additional days of work, Paul worked just as hard and put as much on the ball as the other twirlers in yesterday's brisk drill.

Woolpert, the other new addition to the mound corps, is a right-hander, too. He hurled for the Rosenblums in the Cleveland major sandlot league last summer, and was a teammate of Te Struth, a right-handed hitter.

Clawson's squad of 25 players continued it's daily workout at the Fairgrounds at 11 a. m. today.

Softball Game Plans Made

All-Star Aggregation To Be Selected.

Plans for the staging of the first night softball game to be sponsored by the newly created softball commission were made last night by members of the promotion and publicity committee.

Earl Pittinger chairman of the committee announced that the game would be played at the Fairgrounds and arrangements would be made by the Mansfield Braves officials for the staging of the contest.

The game will be played the first or second week of May and letters are being sent to some of the best teams in the state to take part in the night games. The Toledo Page Dairy team is being contacted for the opening game.

The local team to play in the night game will be picked by popular vote from players in the City Class A Independent league. Fifteen players will be chosen to take part in the night game.

Announcements will be made soon in regard to the teams playing in the night game.

Deadline for entry blanks and fees has been set for this Thursday evening. A managers meeting will be held at the YMCA, according to Joe Lesch, president of the commission. The deadline may be extended one week for entry blanks but it is necessary that the commission have all entry fees paid by Thursday night of this week as a contract for teams wishing to take part in the various leagues.

Plans at the present call for the organization of four leagues namely, the Commercial, Club, Church and Class A Independent league.

EVA SHORB MARRIES

MASSILLON—(NS)—A friendship which started on the golf links, then grew into a romance, had been culminated today in the marriage of Eva Shorb, Massillon's blond golf star, and Thomas Weiskopf, Canton district open champion. They were married in St. Mary's Catholic church.

NOW IT'S OFFICIAL

BOSTON—(NS)—By a decree of the new owners, the Boston Bees of the National league today renamed their baseball club the Braves, a name abandoned several years ago.

Draw Verdict Brings Return

Buddies Battle But Fail To Reach Decision.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The "Battle of the Buddies" for a claim to the Ohio heavyweight championship will have a sequel.

Two matchmakers were bidding today for a return engagement between Jack (Buddy) Walker of Columbus, claimant to the Ohio heavyweight crown, and Charles (Buddy) Knox of Dayton after the first bout between the two ended in a 10-round draw.

Johnny Collins, Dayton promoter, and Whitey Morrett, Columbus matchmaker, sought to interest the battlers in an outdoor engagement early in June.

Collins said he believed a fight in Dayton's ball park arena would outdraw last night's contest in the Columbus auditorium which attracted 2,767 paying customers and gate receipts of $4,222.

Although last night's scrap—two years in the making—turned out to be a draw, Walker retains the state championship trophy awarded by the Columbus boxing commission.

Heavier punching during the first half of the fray earned Walker the decision in the opinion of the boys in the press row, and the fans echoed the thought with boo's and cries of "re-match" when Referee Arthur Donovan announced the draw.

TICKETS AVAILABLE FOR BUCK GRID GAME

Tickets for the intra-squad game which will close Ohio State's spring football training season Saturday, May 10, are available at the Liederkranz club, and Mansfield fans may obtain them by calling the club within the next few days.

Johnny Hallabrin, former Mansfield High Tyger star, is scheduled to appear in the starting lineup of the varsity at fullback, and the Liederkranz expects to send 100 members to the Buckeye horseshoe for the game.

Glover Drops First Pro Nod

Sammy Secreet's Left Puzzles Mansfielder.

Beauford Glover's winning streak in professional fistic ranks came to an abrupt end at four straight last night when he tangled with Sammy Secreet, Pittsburgh diamond-belt wearer.

Sammy snagged every one of the five rounds in their preliminary fracas on the Mancini-Marquart card at Cleveland.

Secreet made no secret of his left hook, putting it out for the Beau-Beau's inspection throughout the five heats, and it was on the strength of his left that he hooked the nod over the former Mansfield champion.

Glover did his share of battling, rallying repeatedly with hard rights to the jaw, but Secreet's left was in there so often there was no question of the final verdict.

Lenny (Boom Boom) Mancini, 21-year-old Youngstown lightweight, approached his goal—a crack at the world champion—after nearly faltering in the home stretch.

The scrappy Ohioan slugged out a close decision over Billy Marquart of Chicago to advance into position for the bout with Sammy Angott of Louisville, National Boxing association titlist.

Matchmaker Ray Routts earlier said the victor probably would be matched with Angott and after the contest he indicated he would attempt to sign the fight.

Most of the 4,648 fans seemed to agree with the official verdict.

Maxie Berger, 142, of Montreal, took an easy decision over Pete Deruzza, 148, of Mamaroneck, N. Y., in the 10-round semi-final.

Stormy Hits In Clutch

Pressure Taken Off Weatherly's Shoulders.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The pressure is off Roy (Stormy) Weatherly, the Indians' fleet center fielder.

Roy has been in such a batting slump that it was suggested in some quarters that Manager Roger Peckinpaugh rest him a few days to relieve his tension at the plate.

Then Weatherly singled with the bases filled in Monday's Detroit game. Yesterday he came through again, crashing a double and two singles to drive in three runs and lead Cleveland to an 8 to 3 victory over Philadelphia.

The slugging boosted Roy's runs-batted-in total to 10 for the season, the highest figure on the team.

Today he sought more hits against Lester McCrabb, Athletic right-hander. Peckinpaugh nominated Jim Bagy, the only Cleveland starter who has yet to win a game.

Ken Keltner also got three hits in the rout of the Athletics, two of his blows being doubles. The Indians collected 15 bingles off the hurling of Chubby Dean and Herman Besse.

Al Smith started for Cleveland, but didn't have his usual stuff and was touched for nine hits and walked four batters in seven innings. He received credit for his second victory of the season, however, as the Indians went into the lead before Joe Heving took over the pitching.

Cleveland scored twice in the second inning on singles by Ray Mack and Gene Desautels, a pass to Smith, and Weatherly's first one-base blow. They added another in the fourth on Weatherly's double and Keltner's single.

A four-run attack in the seventh featured singles by Weatherly, Desautels and Pinch-Hitter Murray Howell, two walks and an error.

In the eighth Lou Boudreau concluded scoring with a home run over the right-field wall.

CHAPTER VI.

"Hang on," ordered Bill Anderson, lifting Raye quickly off her feet as she stepped out of his old coupe into the heavy pelting rain.

It would be utterly silly to make a mountain out of this trivial gesture, she decided swiftly. But no man had ever carried her over puddles before.

She wound her arms tightly around his neck, buried her face on his damp shoulder to escape a sudden gust of rain-soaked wind.

A comingled odor of gasoline and tobacco assailed her nostrils now. But something as soothing as a lullaby laid a hand on her fast-beating heart as he carried her the few short steps to the door.

He set her down under its protective awning with, "There! Just a second until I find the right key—then we'll be out of this downpour."

Quickly he sorted keys on a ring, unlocked and opened the door, and shoved Raye inside the small office. He switched on a light.

"Better hurry with your phoning," he told her now. "I wouldn't care to be accused of kidnaping as many millions as you represent."

"You could be a little less—less insulting over my inheritance," she said, tears of mortification gushing into her eyes. "I didn't ask to be an heiress, you know."

"Don't be a baby," he said with a gentle smile.

He flung her a puzzling glance from his keen hazel eyes as he shook rain from his short white evening jacket.

Raye whirled to the telephone, thoroughly provoked at herself for turning into a weepy someone she did not understand.

"Miss Stone—your aunt has been trying to reach you," said Sumner, the butler. "Just one moment, please."

For some inexplicable reason, Raye sensed calamity.

Her trembling fingers tightened on the receiver. Almost immediately, she heard her aunt's quavering voice.

"Raye—where are you? I've been trying every way to reach you!"

"On my way home, of course. I only wanted to tell you I'd be a little late."

"But, Raye—it's—it's terrible!"

"Auntie—for heaven's sake—calm down! What's terrible?"

"Oh, Raye—it's the most awful thing! It's Mawson Duke! He's—he's killed himself!"

"Mawson Duke? I—I can't believe it? Who told you—how'd you hear about it?"

"The clerk in his hotel called me—sent me a letter they found addressed to me. He confessed everything in it!"

"Confessed?"

"Yes—didn't I tell you? Mawson Duke made away with everything—you're—you're ruined."

"Auntie—try to get hold of yourself until I get home. Your imagination is runing away with you."

"Indeed, it's not! That awful man spent and gambled away every cent of your fortune! Darling—you've nothing— absolutely nothing left!"

The dazed Raye slowly hung up.

"I'm—I'm ruined! It doesn't seem—possible," she breathed out unbelievingly.

"Perhaps I can help," Bill Anderson said. He was all contriteness now.

"Hardly. It seems I've lost all my money," she got out bitterly.

"Swell! That makes everything okay!"

She looked at him in amazement. "I don't understand. I don't see anything swell about—about what's happened. I'm not asking for sympathy—still you could be less pleased over my misfortune, Mr. Anderson."

"It's tough, of course. But you see I'm selfishly glad. Your high financial rating awed me. Now—let me tell you something—it's like this, Raye . . ."

And before she sensed what he was about, he had crushed her to him and planted a deep kiss square on her protesting mouth Then, for a brief instant, she forgot everything but that his lips were on hers. In spite of her fury at him, she experienced an instant of sweet yielding that was new to her.

He released her so quickly that she staggered away from him.

"Your—your caveman tactics aren't in the least alluring, Mr Anderson," she sputtered, wondering if she sounded angry enough.

She strode across the room and flung open the door.

Immediately, a hard blast of rain struck her straight in the face and she slammed the door shut.

"My tactics suit me—and doubtless a girl could get accustomed to them—in time," came from behind her. "Besides—I love you."

"We'll see about that. I'll call a taxi to take me home."

He caught her arm firmly as she started for the telephone.

He told her levelly, "Be sensible, dear. I'll get you home quicker than a taxi can drive out here."

As much as she disliked to grant this man any favors—and surely her company was a favor—she knew he had spoken the truth. And she must reach home as quickly as possible, get at the bottom of her aunt's hysterical outburst.

But surely things couldn't be so bad as Aunt Susan had made out. She always got too excited over any little disturbance and exaggerated facts. Why, for years Mawson Duke had managed the Stone fortune perfectly. She and Aunt Susan had relied implicitly upon his excellent judgment. It couldn't be that this highly respected attorney would stoop to dishonest methods. There must be some mistake.

"Very well, Mr. Anderson. I'll appreciate your—your courtesy," she said in a cool voice she could not keep wholly steady.

"I'd rather be called Bill."

"Bill, then."

She tossed it off indifferently. Anything to satisfy him, make him hurry.

Her mind was now circling fearfully around what losing a fortune might mean. She couldn't quite imagine herself without an unlimited checking account.

"Thank you—that's better, now that we're going to be friends."

He snatched up a bundle of greasy rags, padded them with crumpled paper, and wedged the wad tightly into the yawning hole in the front window.

He was soon helping her into his car, after she had splashed through the racing stream before the station door. He had not offered to carry her across it this time.

But she scarcely noticed. She was too shocked to notice much of anything. Even the effect of his kiss had nearly worn off now.

The little car sped along the glistening highway, slashing through the curtain of rain, the worn tires now and then skidding threateningly. But Raye did not sense any particular danger. She felt numb with the sort of deadly despair that shock often produces.

"Well, perhaps it won't be so bad," she finally said thinking aloud. "I'll sell the Miami house and give up my New York apartment. I could do without a chauffeur—perhaps manage with just a cook and . . ."

Bill's short laugh interrupted.

"You call that ruin?" he asked. "I thought you said you'd lost all your money."

"Yes—so auntie said. But there must be something left! Money doesn't just disappear entirely—go completely up in smoke."

But she said it more to bolster up her confidence than anything.

Her brain was whirling in sickening confusion. The carefree Raye Stone she had been only yesterday! The worried, frightened Raye Stone she was this minute! How she was beginning to envy that other Raye!

The little car rattled on through the dark road ahead. It was like traveling to some unknown land, where she had no idea of conditions awaiting her.

If only she could throw off this sense of fear that was clutching her! It was so foolish to go haywire over anything auntie ever said—auntie was so irresponsible. Why hadn't she thought of calling Mawson Duke's hotel back there in the gas station?

It couldn't be that this man's kiss had confused her. Other men had surprised her with kisses—though perhaps in not quite the same way. What was this way?

She did not know, she could not explain to herself—and it puzzled her.

APPROVES BILL

House Finance Group O. K.'s Measure on Court Costs.

The finance committee of the Ohio house today had recommended passage of a bill by Senator Joseph Jamesson of Lorain, already approved by the senate, which would allow Richland county to credit more than $8,000 in criminal court costs against its indebtedness to the state.

The bill, which now needs only passage by the house to become completed, asks that all counties be permitted to credit such costs against the state. It was passed by the senate on April 21.

The legislature has always recognized the claims but for the past seven or eight years has neglected to appropriate funds to pay them. The costs are those incurred in the transfer of criminals to state institutions and the court costs involved in their cases .

County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe announced that the county's claim is well over $8,000 and is increasing daily.

Use Plane And Dog Sleds to Trap Poachers

BANGOR, Me. — (INS) — Every possible mode of conveyance was used by Aroostock county game wardens to cover 2,952 square miles of territory in a campaign against poachers during the beaver trapping season.

Chief Warden Charles E. Harriman recounted exploits of his seven deputies during the season. A state airplane was used as a spotter as the wardens travelled hundreds of miles through the territory on snow shoes and dog sleds. Many times they were forced to sleep out in the woods for the night when temperatures were reported at 25 degrees below zero.

On one occasion Harriman said, he and two other wardens travelled 33 miles on snow shoes. They had to break their own trail for 13 miles of this trek and at the end of the trail found the suspected poacher had deserted his cabin.

Harriman reported 121 arrests during the season which saw 2500 beaver pelts taken from Aroostock county. This comprised an area of 2,952 square miles and included 82 townships.

THEATERS

Held Over.

"Men of Boy's Town," has been held over through Friday at the Ohio theater by popular demand. Starring Spencer Tracy and Mickey Rooney the picture, a sequel to the popular "Boy's Town," deals with homeless unwanted boys and the man who gives them a new lease on life. Continuing his previous role Mickey Rooney is shown as a graduate of "Boy's Town," who gets into trouble when aiding a young offender Darryl Hickman plays a kid bandit and Larry Nunn, another well-known youngster, is in the cast.

Youthful Trials.

Henry Aldrich sets out to earn $100 by the sweat of his brow in order to qualify for a trip to Alaska in "Life With Henry," current attraction at the Madison. With his genius for getting into trouble this latest ambition complicates matters as usual and causes Henry no end of embarrassing situations. Jackie Cooper plays Henry, and Leila Ernst, Kay Stewart, Hedda Hopper and Fred Niblo, sr., are in the cast. Charlie Chan again solves a thrilling mystery in "Dead Men Tell," the second picture.

Domestic Disturbance.

As a stuffed shirt, small town lawyer, John Litel is responsible for a home full of tension in "Father's Son," Booth Tarkington story showing at the Ritz. In the role of his wife, who realizes that beneath the brusqueness is a real love for their son, is Frieda Inescort. Billy Dawson plays the son, who runs away, and then decides to restore harmony at the fireside. "Street Scene," with Sylvia Sidney is the second picture.

Strange Task.

Jack Holt, sensational action star, has the strangest task in underworld history, that of keeping a killer alive, in "The Great Plane Robbery," opening Thursday at the Park. As a detective, Holt is assigned to the job of protecting the killer during his trip on a transport plane which is taken over by three gangsters and landed in a secluded nook. Vicki Lester and Stanley Fields are in the supporting cast. "Young Bill Hickok," featuring Roy Rogers is the second film.

Family Story.

Latest of the "Four Daughters" series returns the Lane sisters, Rosemary, Lola and Priscilla with Gale Page to the Majestic screen in "Four Mothers," another delightful tale of the Lemp family. It introduces several themes, a doctor's search for a cure, a man's love for great music, and the efforts of a family to keep going in the face of adversity. The picture is based on Fannie Hurst's "Sister Act." "Foreign Correspondent," with Joel McCrae, Laraine Day and Herbert Marshal is the second film.

"No Child of Mine will ever get WORMS!"

Don't be so sure, Mother!

Anybody, anywhere, can have roundworms! Yes, and the ugly creatures may be living inside your child right now, starting trouble, without your even knowing it. If your child is pale, underweight, nervous, has an uneasy stomach, picks at nose or seat — these ugly roundworms may be at work.

Play safe! Get Jayne's Vermifuge at once. It acts very gently, yet expels stubborn worms. And if no worms are there, it acts just as a mild laxative. Jayne's is America's best known proprietary worm medicine, used by millions for over a century. Demand Jayne's Vermifuge! At all drug stores.

Famous Fun Makers Coming to Madison Theater Stage Wed. and Thurs., May 7 and 8

The "Ace" team, Nixon and Sans, will tell you that being funny is a serious business. No matter what the performer thinks, the audience is the final judge. And so, many times with regret, they have thrown away things they thought funny in favor of something the audience preferred. This formula has brought them years of success in Revues, Vaudeville and Music Halls. They are a very important part of "Red Hot and Lovely," the stage show coming to the Madison theater Wednesday and Thursday. Other stars are The Three Ross Sisters, Star and Lee, comedy; "The Perry Twins," comedy dancing stars; the Gorgeous Ziegfeld Girls; Milt Henkin and his modern master of music; Petite Annette and many others.

SIR, I HAVE TO GO OVER TO MR. TRELAWNEY'S AGAIN TODAY TO WIPE DISHES—HE TOLD ME THEY COULDN'T GET ALONG IN THE KITCHEN WITHOUT ME
ALL RIGHT, STEVE—BUT DON'T MOPPISE ON THEM BY EATING TOO MUCH
YES, SIR—WHEN A BOY WANTS TO WIPE DISHES TO HELP PAY FOR SOMETHING HE HAS GOTTEN IT SHOWS WHAT HE'S MADE OF—THAT BOY IS ALL WOOL AND A YARD WIDE, AND HE HAS A HEART OF GOLD—BLESS HIM!
BRANNER—YOU HARD-HEARTED OLD DUFFER—WHAT ARE YOU DOING, GETTING SENTIMENTAL ABOUT A KID AT YOUR AGE FOR? PULL YOURSELF TOGETHER, MAN—YOU'RE SLIPPING!
I GUESS THAT'S TELLING ME WHERE TO GET OFF!
YES, BRANNER LIKES HIM, TOO

AVIATION STOCK LEADS UPWARD SLANT ON MART

But General Dealings Remain Irregular as Traders Fear War, Taxes.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Some aviation stocks took an upward slant today, moving ahead of an otherwise irregular market.

On the upside were United Aircraft, Sperry, Allied Chemical, du Pont, Union Carbide and Woolworth. Slipping were Republic, Youngstown, Chrysler, Easterman, International Nickel and Westinghouse.

The movements of U. S. Steel were irresolute despite the report showing first quarter profit the largest since 1929.

Traders continued to show timidity over the near eastern war situation and worry over the prospect of tax increases.

Bonds moved irregularly higher. Commodity price trends were mixed.

Auto Horns Blare As Cars Wait In Lines at Subway

while the third was allowed to proceed. This procedure made it necessary to wait three times as long as usual to pass through the subway.

The confusion was not confined to the subway alone. Far back on Park avenue east, past Foster street, motorists turning onto Park avenue threw the traffic signal system into turmoil. Intersections were also blocked by drivers on Park avenue neglecting to allow spacing for intersection crossing.

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton said today that work on one side of the subway had been completed last night and that the subway had been opened at noon for two-lane traffic for the rest of today. Tomorrow at 6:30 a. m., street workers will begin work on the other side of the subway, once more plugging one-half of street.

It was planned to complete the work in two days but it was decided to allow the replaced pavement of the first half to become thoroughly dried before proceeding with the work.

Mayor William J. Locke ordered that one-lane traffic be maintained during the project. Crafton and City Engineer W. C. Statler had originally planned to completely close the subway because they believed it would be too dangerous for motorists and would result in too much of a traffic tangle. They had planned to re-route traffic over Fourth street. The mayor, however, insisted that one-lane traffic would not be dangerous inconvenient and ordered Statler to make plans for it.

The new water line is part of a $20,000 line from the subway to Wayne street. Work has already been completed from Third to Fifth streets on Dorian and trenches dug from Dorian to the subway.

Three watchmen are being used to maintain the flow of traffic through the subway. One man is placed at each end while the third acts as relief.

COMMANDER NAMED

BELLEVUE—(AP)—The Bellevue barracks of the state highway patrol has a new commander in Corporal J. W. Brooks, transferred from Portsmouth to succeed Corporal M. G. Hegele, recently sent to Perrysburg.

TELLS HOW VENDOL EASED STOMACH DISTRESS
"I never knew stomach upsets due to constipation could cause so much suffering," says Mrs. Freda Grove of Springfield, Ohio.
"When I'm constipated I suffer terribly from symptoms like sour stomach, acid risings, 'heartburn,' shortness of breath, and my stomach bloats with gas and cramps until I almost double up with pains due to constipation. Aches in the muscles of my arms, legs and back resulting from constipation were so bad that nearly every movement caused intense suffering.
"Vendol gives the finest temporary relief from constipation that I need so badly of anything I ever tried; then I never have those terrifying symptoms of stomach distress due to constipation that make life so miserable. I advise everyone suffering like I did to start taking Vendo at once."

45,000 BRITISH TROOPS ESCAPE FROM GREECE

Berlin Reports Capture of 5,000 Imperial Troops; Air Blows Traded.

the second successive night pounded with terrible fury at the British naval base of Plymouth, blasting the city as probably no other objective has been bombed since the war started and apparently trying to destroy it literally.

The Axis planes also hammered at the British naval base of Malta in the mid-Mediterranean, reporting that at least one warship had been bombed, that several other vessels had been hit and that big fires had been started in fuel depots and along the quays.

Still other Axis airplanes pounded at Tobruk, reporting that they had sunk at least one ship in that besieged city which the British hold on the Libyan coast. Rome claimed that airplanes led the way in a new offensive thrust by German-Italian forces in the Sollum area of Egypt. Cairo reported that at least 100 big German troop carrying planes were concentrated in Libya, apparently for a parachute attack on Suez.

Britain also was on the offensive in the air, reporting that R. A. F. planes made a heavy raid on the Mannheim industrial area of Germany. Berlin admitted British air attacks on scattered objectives, including Heidelberg, but claimed that 21 British planes were shot down yesterday.

The steady swinging of the sledge hammers of war by both sides provided a thunderous background for political maneuvers which affected almost every nation in the world, including Japan and the United States.

Turkey was reported less friendly toward Britain at a time when Nazi forces have spread out over the islands of the eastern Mediterranean as a possible prelude to a grab at the rich oil fields of Iraq. Turkey virtually is flanked by the Axis forces and, unless strongly backed up by Russia, appeared to be swinging more and more toward the idea of avoiding a clash with Germany. So far, the Soviets have not indicated that they were giving the Turks much encouragement to fight, regardless of whether Hitler gets control of the Dardanelles.

Sees Danger of Singapore Thrust

NEW YORK—(AP)—The commanding officer of Singapore naval base was quoted by the British broadcasting company today as saying there was a "definite danger of invasion" in that area, according to a broadcast picked up here by the National Broadcasting company.

The officer declared that defense efforts at Singapore, British Crown Colony, were going rapidly forward.

In the same report, a dispatch from Manila was quoted as saying that a "steady stream of long-range bombers have been arriving in Singapore."

Forming New Greek Government Reported

BERLIN — (AP) — The well-informed commentary Dienst Aus Deutschland said today that a new Greek government had been formed and added that this is viewed in Berlin as "the actual end of the war in Greece."

(Presumably the commentary referred to a government set up on the Greek mainland to cooperate with German forces of occupation.)

Dienst said this constituted Greek reorientation to "the publicly expressed concepts of the Axis powers and their program for the European new order."

ASHLAND WOMAN DIES, AGED 82

Succumbs at Home of Son Near West Salem: Rites Friday.

ASHLAND — A resident of Ashland and vicinity for the past 55 years, Mrs. Sarah C. Buchanan, 82, died today at the home of her son, Robert Buchanan, of near West Salem. The widow of the late Robert Buchanan, she had made her home with her son since March.

Surviving are three sons, Robert and Will Buchanan of West Salem, and Frank, of Creston, and five daughters, Mrs. Blanche Hastings of Red Hook, Mrs. Jessie Simmons, of Polk, Mrs. Mertie Glover of Akron, Mrs. Martha Jones, of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Mrs. Mildred Hartman of Ashland R. D. Also survivors are 24 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

The body was taken to [illegible] Chapel in Ashland where it will remain until [illegible] Services will be held at the Brethren church in Red Hook Sunday at 2 p. m. Rev. [illegible] will officiate. Burial in the Red Hook cemetery.

HOMEWORKSHOP CLUB CONVENES

CRESTLINE—Fifteen members of the Homeworkshop club and one guest, W. G. Johnson, met in the basement shop of H. C. Byers with O. B. Morton, associate host.

President Willis Marshall presided and the club agreed to donate $5 to the Boy Scouts' fund. The group discussed making markers for the route from Crestline to the new Boy Scout camp near Ontario.

U. S. PATROL IN BATTLE ZONES

Warships, Bombers Active In Area of Counter-Blockade, Washington Believes.

lieve the president would institute convoys without first obtaining congressional approval was interpreted in some quarters as an indication that much was expected from the wide-ranging defense patrol operations.

Mr. Roosevelt, in discussing the patrol yesterday, repeated time and again that there were no mileage limits for its activities. A little earlier Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, had disclosed that at some points ships of the fleet were cruising as far as 2,000 miles offshore, but Mr. Roosevelt declined to commit himself to this limit, remarking that the 2,000 mile distance depended on whether you measured from.

Evidence of Axis interest in the wide patrol system was not slow in forthcoming. Several hours after Mr. Roosevelt spoke, Koh Ishii, director of the official board of information at Tokyo, spoke of the Atlantic patrols as "but one step from war."

He said extension of the patrols was in the direction of an act of aggression "and very dangerous."

At one point in his press conference yesterday the president emphasized that it was impossible to define or map any particular patrol area, or to limit it because the areas were changing all the time.

The president's stress on the fluid character of operations, informed quarters pointed out, would cover air patrols particularly, for planes on reconnaissance would maneuver with more freedom than surface craft.

On another phase of maritime developments, Mr. Roosevelt told reporters yesterday that an announcement might be forthcoming soon concerning transfer of coast guard vessels to the navy. Such a step usually is taken only in time of war.

Nazis Repeat Threat On Torpedoing

BERLIN — (INS) — The German government today reiterated its long-standing threat that any ships entering the combat zone around the British Isles would be torpedoed — American or otherwise.

The statement was made by Wilhelmstrasse officials in answer to President Roosevelt's plan to extend the United States neutrality patrol to whatever limits he deems necessary.

"The president's plan," a spokesman said, "will not alter the reich's determination to torpedo any ship—regardless of its flag—which enters the combat zones categorically proclaimed and outlined by the German government."

FOUR BURNED

Children Die as Elders Fight Flames In Home.

ROCHESTER, Pa.—(INS)—Four children were burned to death today when trapped by flames in their beds while elders in their family battled fire in their midtown Rochester home.

Chester Rambo, 23, father of the youngest child and step-father of the others, was critically burned in futile efforts to save the youngsters — one-year-old Chester Rambo, jr.; Robert Johnson, four; Georgine Johnson, six, and Beatrice Johnson, 10. Hospital attaches said the father likely will die.

George Hall, 65, grandfather of the children, was burned on hands and face; the mother, Beatrice Johnson Rambo, 27, became hysterical from shock.

SPARK BLAMED FOR EXPLOSION

Five Injured as Roof Collapses at Warren Gypsum Plant.

WARREN — (AP) — A spark which ignited naptha or paint fumes was believed today to have caused an explosion that blew out part of a wall and injured five men, two seriously, at the United States Gypsum company.

Seriously burned in the blast were Ralph Plum, 43, and Clarence Chilson, 49, Chicago engineers. The central portion of the plant's roof collapsed after the explosion, but a fire was quickly extinguished.

STRIKE SPREADS

Ninth Plant Affected In Canton Brick and Clay Walkout.

CANTON — (AP) — A strike of brick and clay workers spread to a ninth brick plant today as 72 members of the Belden Brick company plant at Waco joined the walkout.

H. P. Tussey, organizer for the United Brick and Clay Workers of the AFL, said negotiations with operators thus far have been

As Fire Sweeps Mansfield Residence

Sparks from a chimney were blamed for fire which swept through the upper part of a double house at 132-134 Blecker street today at 8 a. m. practically destroying the roof. Firemen and residents were able to save furniture in the upstairs rooms from damage before pouring water into the fire. A. W. Wilfong, owner, could make no estimate of the damage. Companies 1 and 4 answered the alarm. The above picture shows firemen battling the blaze.

CLAIM NAZIS IN FINLAND

Pravda Reports 12,000 Fully Equipped Troops Land at Finnish Port.

German Ambassador Count Friederich von der Schulenberg is flying back to Moscow from Berlin. Diplomatic quarters awaited his return to learn whether there would be any new developments in Soviet-German relations.

Consomol Pravda, organ of the Young Communists league, said: "As a result of last week's battles the British have entirely lost their position in Greece, but their position in the eastern Mediterranean remains firm."

Hope For Closing of Nazi Supply Route

LONDON—(AP)— British circles expressed hope today a Soviet Russian ban on transit of war materials across the U. S. S. R. would result in the closing of one of Germany's vital supply routes.

Some quarters interpreted the Russian action as an expression of Moscow's disapproval of German expansion in southeastern Europe.

Less optimistic observers, however, discounting talk of cooling German-Russian relations, said they interpreted the ban as "more window dressing than anything else."

Despite this disagreement on the true significance, most economic experts agreed the development was loaded with potential importance.

There have been repeated assertions here that large quantities of machine tools and other vital commodities purchased by Russia from the United States were finding their way into Germany, thus circumventing the British blockade.

Also last Jan. 28 Hugh Dalton, minister of economic warfare, told the House of Commons that Russia was buying cotton, copper, machinery and wheat from the United States to replace huge consignments being sent from the Soviet to Germany.

Dalton said at that time he hoped conversations then under way with the United States might result in a reduction of American traffic with Russia.

SERVICES SET

NOT SO STIFF

Army Liberalizes Requirements For Air Corps Enlistment.

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — The fifth corps army headquarters announced today that eligibility requirements for enlistment in the army air corps had been "liberalized" to admit young men with a grammar school education who can pass a "knowledge" test.

Previously, a high school education or a journeyman mechanic rating was required.

TWO REMAIN IN SPEECH TOURNEY

Miss Sally Van Horn and John Purdy Survive Prelims In National Meet.

SHELBY — Two Shelby high school students, Sally Van Horn and John Purdy, remain in the national tournament of National Forensic League being held at Lexington, Ky.

They won preliminary rounds of the tournament and are competing today in the quarter-finals of the affair.

JoAnn Fish and Velma Van Wagner, Shelby's other two representatives in the tournament, were eliminated from the tournament in the third round yesterday.

Although eliminated from the regular tournament, Miss Fish remains in the special Americanism contest.

Nearly two-thirds of the competing students were eliminated yesterday in the opening rounds of the tournament and only the most outstanding orators from high schools throughout the United States remain.

Miss Van Horn is competing in dramatic and humorous declamation, while Purdy is taking part in the dramatic division. Purdy and Miss Van Wagner are also competing in the poetry reading contest being held in conjunction with the tournament.

Besides these four students, Speech Supervisor Leonard Linsenmayer and Betty Hart, both of Shelby, are taking part in the program.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills, 10¢ and 25¢.

QUAKE HITS PERTH

PERTH, West Australia —(INS)—Windows in Perth were left broken today by one of the most severe earthquake tremors ever felt in the city. Epicenter of the quake was believed to be between 400 and 500 miles to the northwest.

COUNCIL FACES SUBWAY 'CRISIS'

Special Session Called to Act on Legislation or Be Blamed For Delay.

department at Ashland called Mayor Locke and informed him that the state was being held up by the city's negligence in passing the legislation. He said that the department wanted to advertise for materials for the project tomorrow and could not do so unless the city provided finances for its share.

The mayor then asked William J. Beer, jr., clerk of council, to call a special meeting immediately but discovered that the necessary legislation had not been prepared. City Solicitor M. D. Ward, jr., told the mayor that he had not received the material to prepare legislation until yesterday but that he would try to have it ready for tonight's meeting.

Council's public utilities committee is also scheduled to have another meeting tonight to consider the proposed five-year contract ordinance of the Ohio Public Service to lower domestic rates.

Russell D. Porch, chairman of the committee, when informed of the meeting, said that his committee would meet "if there was time" and would probably ask Ward to explain some of the technicalities involved in the rate problem. Members were given a list of Ward's objections for study Monday night.

Although scheduled to meet then, a two-hour discussion by council resulting in a plan to license the Longview well and pumping station to the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company for $100 a year, cut the utilities committee's time short.

The B. and O. overhead will cost approximately $249,000 of which the state will pay $13,625. Further out on Route 30, an underpass will be built beneath the Erie railroad tracks. Cost for the underpass is estimated at about $262,290, $40,000 of which will be paid by Richland county.

Council held a regular meeting on April 1, a special meeting called by Mayor Locke but not attended by him on April 8, and the caucus which turned into a meeting Monday night.

Woman Pianist Says She Was Sterilized Without Consent.

LOS ANGELES — Suit for $1,000,000 damages has been filed against Ralph Maxwell Lewis and others by Jeannette Scott Seymour Young, 27-year-old concert pianist, who charged they had her confined in a state insane hospital and forced her to undergo a sterilization operation.

Through bribery of state officers and attaches of the hospital, Miss Young alleged, the sterilization operation was performed without her consent January 12, 1935.

Miss Young charged that as a result her hearing became greatly impaired and she was forced to abandon her musical career, losing earnings of $3,000 to $5,000 a year.

man, has advised majors of the importance of reporting their pledges to the Fund executive office by 10:30 a. m. and again at the daily luncheons so that the organization and public may be kept informed on progress of the drive.

Working under their 12 division majors solicitors resumed their canvass today and their reports are expected to show great gains by Friday, according to Mrs. Williams. By that time uptown groups will have been contacted.

More subscribers and greater amounts are being pledged this year, reports show. The executive office estimates that 427 new subscribers are needed to make up the increase in funds the agencies are seeking this year.

The campaign still has eight days to go and $29,660.75 to raise before the goal is reached.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 30, 1941.

Some people are so well satisfied that all they want is one thing more.

Attention is already being directed to the fact that May is one of those delightful months that will have five paydays.

With conditions as they are, it doesn't seem safe to wait until the "undecided" eight per cent in the Gallup poll make up their minds.

Coal Production Being Resumed

THE ANNUAL turmoil over coal production has again been ended by agreement to re-open soft coal mines in the eight-state Appalachian area, while negotiations toward final contract terms continue.

These mines, with an estimated weekly capacity of eleven million tons, have been closed by strike since April 1, and it was only through federal government intervention that the impasse reached by operators and union leaders was finally broken.

Urgency for immediate resumption of coal production, to meet defense needs, became the determining factor in what may be regarded as more of a truce than a settlement, and interference with public convenience does not appear to have been considered—as had been the custom in previous mine strikes.

With reserves running dangerously low, first effort when coal again starts coming from the mines, will be to meet the fuel needs of defense industries, as these must be given precedence over everything else.

Whether production can be speeded to the point of overcoming the shortage of almost fifty million tons, caused by the four-weeks shut-down of mines may be doubted—likelihood being that scarcity and prices through summer and fall will emphasize the public interest in factional and sectional imbroglios of this sort.

Also, out of this unhappy experience, which Labor Secretary Frances Perkins allowed to drift along for several weeks without action, the federal administration might well be brought to a recognition of the importance of withholding heavy responsibilities from incapable persons.

Following the Blossom Trail

THIS is blossom time in America. The Northwest began it with daffodils last month. Washington, D. C., followed with the famous cherry blossoms at Easter. Now it's apple blossom time in Calhoun county, Ill., which has a special blossom festival. North and South, East and West there are flowering dogwood and redbud and wild crab in the woods to vie with fruit blossoms of all kinds in the orchards.

Much of this beauty used to be taken for granted. Now there is a growing pleasure in pilgrimages to such regions when they are at the height of their beauty. Many people travel miles and cross state lines as well as county lines to view the loveliness of the land in the spring.

A few years ago there was a popular sentimental song about "Apple Blossom Time In Normandy." If there are fruit trees blooming in Normandy today their charm must be overwhelmed by the stern guns along the channel and the presence of the armed conqueror. Such thoughts make us more aware than before of the beauty and present safety of America.

Push-Button Elevator Service

UNLESS the new court house elevator is intended for the limited use of persons who visit the county building frequently, instead of as a public convenience, the idea of self-operation does not appear practicable—although the county commissioners' disinclination to create another job is commendable.

While an automatic elevator presents no difficulties to a person familiar with its push-button method of operation, this is something that must be learned and many older persons will probably continue to show preference for a familiar stairway instead of attempting to "run the elevator."

The job of elevator operator, at nominal pay, may be regarded as one that could be given to some capable person beyond the age of heavier employment but who prefers to be doing some regular work, with short hours.

Read About an Honest Man

AS NEARLY as can be judged by observation, ideas of what constitutes "honesty" are widely varied.

The degree of honesty attained, for instance, in the following incident was regarded as sufficiently unusual to attract widespread attention.

It seems that a cow belonging to W. D. Meyers, of Deemer, Miss., wandered onto a railroad right of way and was killed.

The unusual part of the story has to do with the letter which Mr. Meyers wrote to the section foreman of the railroad. He said:

"In making your report on the killing of my cow, you may notify your claim department that there will be no claim filed for this cow, as it was my cow that was out of place, and you may consider it a closed incident."

Can you imagine that! But if he had made a claim for damages to the amount of twice the reasonable value of the cow there would have been no story.

With or Without Profit

WHATEVER can be said, or done to encourage city officials to proceed with the idea of getting remaining street car rails out of Mansfield streets during the coming summer, should be said—or done—promptly.

Mayor Locke has told council that, at present steel prices, there is a possibility that the abandoned trackage can be removed at a profit to the city. If this can be done, fine. But the really important thing, from the standpoint of traffic safety and civic appearance, is to get the work done and the paving replaced in satisfactory manner, as quickly as possible.

The clamor for an expression of war aims continues in this country and in Great Britain. Well, the first aim is to keep from being engulfed and enslaved in the new world order proclaimed by Hitler.

The department of agriculture is asking hens to produce 300,000,000 dozen more eggs this year—which will be quite a coup.

A New Yorker fell dead after winning the jackpot in a slot machine—but few people face such danger.

There is talk of resuming "nuisance taxes"—just as if there were some other kind.

THE VICTORS TAKE A BOW

Listen World!

I Bust My Nose

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

BUSTED my nose the other day. Got all excited waxing walls—ended up doing a Stuka Dive in competition with a typewriter stand, four encyclopedias, one potted fern, a ham sandwich, 792 fan letters, an electric heater, three pups and the floor. The floor won. In nothing flat.

Thanks for the sympathy—I can always use it. But 's'matter of fact, no great harm was done. The mason says he can fix the foundations in a week or so. And I didn't think much of the sandwich, anyway. As for the nose, it was always one of those vague features that never could quite make up its mind whether it was going to be early Greek or late Donegal. And now it's merely moreso.

All of which is leading up to the fact—what a lot you can learn from a simple little thing like a nose bust. Not to mention the shiner which Joe Louis himself couldn't have improved on!

There I'd gone on existing with that nose all these years . . . taking it for granted . . . letting it live its life while I lived mine . . . and never once had I checked up on its record.. Now, for a few days, I did practically nothing else but. And was I chagrined!

F'instance, as noses go, I had always considered mine to be an amiable, law-abiding, bourgeois beak. It had never been haled into police court as Exhibit A, nor had it attended "snow" parties, nor had it been involved in the other scandalous revels of underworld schnozzles. It was, I fondly believed, just a good, durable member of my facial furniture and a credit to the community.

But now, lying around, waiting for things to blow over, as it were, I was appalled to realize what a Dr. Jekyll-Mr. Hyde life that nose of mine had led.

How often, while appearing most respectable, it had slipped away and poked itself into divers matters that were absolutely none of its business. Thereby starting 57 varieties of Cain!

How often, with a seemingly innocent sniff, it had thrown the monkey wrench into someone's cherished plan or happy illusion. How many timid young hopes, I wondered, had been crushed by its careless snort?

Crueler yet—how often had it callously turned aside to follow its own pleasure, regardless of the misery or obligations that lay straight ahead!

And who in heck did my nose think it was, anyway, to sit there in judgment on all the rest of humanity? Was it a Barrymore nose, one of those rare works of art which are above the law? It was not. Was it the proud prow of some great scholar or philanthropist? Not at all! It was a common, garden-variety proboscis that had gone through life getting by with murder.

No wonder it was busted. It had it coming!

P. S. Am I spoofing? I am not. MY DOSE ID BUSTED. But you can try the philosophy on your own, even if it's straight.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Saturday, April 30, 1921.

Nation-wide round-up of "reds" was in progress, to guard against May day violence.

Anniversary of the inauguration of George Washington as first president.

W. H. Case moved from 488 Springmill street into new home at 202 Harker street.

Final story hour of the season was held at public library, with Miss Lucille Webber in charge.

Five liquor law violators were fined $500 each by Common Pleas Judge Galbraith.

George Biddle moved from 264 Park avenue west to 240 Marion avenue.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Thursday, April 30, 1936.

Plans were made to clear brush from sides of county roads.

Edward A. Graber, of Pomeroy, was named assistant state milk sanitarian.

John F. Kramer asked industries to give 60 per cent of the former year's Community Fund contributions.

Relief board announced intentions to continue relief for two months.

Mrs. D. O. Meese and G. A. Mayer spoke at a W. C. T. U. meeting.

TODAY IN HISTORY

George Washington, who was chosen by congress as president of the United States, was inaugurated at New York City on April 30, 1789. The capital was later moved to Philadelphia and finally to Washington.

Ohio Also Guilty.

Bernard Johnson has been convicted of manslaughter.

He killed a passenger in another car when he failed to make a boulevard stop.

He failed to make the boulevard stop because he could not read.

The state law which requires annual drivers' licenses says that no license is to be issued to a person who is unable to understand highway warnings or traffic signs or directions given in the English language.

Yet year after year Johnson was issued a drivers' license by the political appointees who grant them and who pocket 15 cents for each license issued and turn the remaining 25 cents over to the state.

A life no doubt would have been spared and much grief and misery would never have occurred had the deputy registrar in any one of a number of years made even a slight effort to find out whether the applicant was qualified.—Cleveland Press.

Democracy's Testing Ground.

Editor News-Journal:

The incompatibility of human nature is tragically impressive. Instead of being appreciative, cooperative and sacrifically active in the cause of democracy we see the ignominy of subversive activity of those that have ignored the greatest opportunity of the ages to leave their footprints on the sands of time—immortal inspirations to future generations.

Must some of us be selfish to an extent of being consecrated to greed and pleasure instead of to God. Service. Liberty and Democracy? Should labor desecrate its mission of service in being selfish to an extent of obstructing the cause of democracy in its greatest emergency? Taking advantage of a great crisis for selfish ends cannot be commendable to anyone.

Life without sacrifices, suffering, loss and hard work cannot be morally satisfactory.

Tolstoy's admonition to give all and expect nothing in return is spiritually and morally beautiful and inspiring. It is the spirit of service that must render the democracies impregnable and permanent.

Although the democracies may be capitalistic, they are infinitely better than totalitarian regimentation of life, concentration camps, the idolatry of the deification of the materialistic pagan, animalism interpretation of culture and the super-superiority complex of race supremacy.

We seem to hear again that stirring cry: "Give me liberty or give me death." And we who realize the value of freedom must necessarily prefer death rather than totalitarian domination.

This Is Ohio

SOON after the close of the civil war Benjamin F. Goodrich and J. P. Morris, realty partners in New York City, acquired a rubber manufacturing company. Goodrich was installed as president and manager.

After losing money for two years the partners in 1869 saw an Akron, Ohio, board of trade advertisement inviting factories to locate there. Goodrich found the town well adapted for his purpose and on Dec. 31, 1870, the company selected a site for its plant.

A two-story building was completed by the spring of 1871 and the first products from the new plant were sold in May of that year. This plant developed into the present B. F. Goodrich company of Akron.

Navy Resents Civilian Air Control, America First Group Fears Spies

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—As previously pointed out in this column, one of the significant differences between the war and navy departments is the hostility of navy brasshats to civilian scrutiny and control of their operations.

There are some army chiefs who hold similar views, but they usually are circumspect about airing them. Secretary Henry Stimson and Under Secretary Robert Patterson are sincere believers in democracy and they rule their generals with a firm hand. In the navy it is largely the other way around.

A striking illustration is the sharp contrast in the attitude of the two departments on the question of an assistant secretary for air.

Deciding that the vastly expanded army air corps needed a central directing head, Stimson and Patterson selected Robert Lovett, New York banker and World war ace, for the job and had the president appoint him. There was no interference from the generals, and air corps chiefs are working harmoniously and effectively with their new civilian boss.

Navy brasshats, on the other hand, are fighting tooth and nail to block a similar civilian intrusion into their gold-braided realm. Through high-powered lobbying operations in the house, the admirals wormed into the $3,500,000,000 navy appropriation bill a provision that would make it impossible to name an assistant secretary for air.

"Political Appointee."

THE prohibitive clause is a very slick piece of axing. On its face it has no connection with the proposed civilian appointee. It merely bars the expenditure of navy funds "for any additional positions . . . at a rate of compensation in excess of $5,000 a year." The pay for an assistant navy secretary is $8,000 a year.

One of the leaders of this undercover lobby was Rear Admiral John H. Towers, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, who would be subordinated if a civilian is appointed. Towers, who knows his way around on Capitol Hill, buttonholed members of the house appropriations committee with this argument:

"The job probably will be filled with a political appointee. That might be dangerous in this extremely critical period. Besides, we're running our air force quite satisfactorily and we don't need any more experts."

Towers got his way in the house, but in the senate he was thrown for a loss. Administration leaders curtly eliminated the obstructive provision and followed this up by privately notifying house leaders that it was going to stay out.

Note—The "political appointee" Towers was understood by house members to have in mind is ex-brain truster Tom Corcoran, whom Navy Under Secretary James Forrestal has been strongly urging for the aviation post.

Spring at White House.

NEWS from Europe may be the most distressing in years, but not the news of spring's arrival at the White House gardens. In the south gardens that look toward the Monument, and in the north gardens that border the Avenue, everything is early and flourishing.

The jonquils came in a burst of yellow, and they suffered no blight from the snow. They are yielding now to the red and pink tulips and the iris.

There was a drought this month, but it did more good than harm. It made the ground firm and protected it against the invasion of the egg-rolling hordes on Easter Monday. The grass suffered less because the soil was not soft.

They call it blue grass, but there's nothing blue about it now. Its color is a lustrous green, and all the spots that were bare last fall are richly covered again, even under the beech trees.

Gardener William Reeves looks at the grass with pride. Last fall he waited until all the leaves had fallen from the beeches, then he raked them away, broke up the earth, and planted new grass seed. It has come up in abundance.

The front grounds are open to the public, and in contrast to certain famous residences in Berlin and Rome, anyone can walk through, right in front of the White House, as if it were a public park. Thousands of government workers use the grounds as a short-cut, going to work.

Gardener Reeves doesn't worry. "Let 'em enjoy it," he says.

America First Shadowed?

THE America First Committee has become increasingly fearful of being spied upon or having its wires tapped. So fearful that R. L. Bliss, one of the committee's chief officials, recently sent an inter-office memo to all members of the staff which read as follows:

"I suggest that you conduct all your meetings in your office as quietly as possible, and that you do not discuss confidential business matters in the hall, or in going to and from the teletype. This will prevent visitors in the outer office from overhearing remarks. Let us keep our material and ideas to ourselves.

R. L. B.

"Postscript: I notice that there is also a lot of loose talk in De Met's over the tables where 90% of us eat. Watch your discussions within hearing of strangers.

"PS: We will appreciate it if you will plan your lunch hours so there is always someone in your office during the day."

Note—The America First Committee has sent its branch offices a list of speakers available to promote the cause. The list includes a great many names, ranging from Wilbur Helm, who is willing to speak for only $25, to Major General Paul B. Malone, who will speak for $200. This is the highest fee except one, whose fee and whose name leads all the rest. General Hugh Johnson is willing to promote the cause of America First for the sum of $750 per lecture.

Heavenly Visitor.

THE other day Captain Robert Pearce of the Capitol police spotted a bearded, saintly looking man perched on a high ledge, just off the stone steps leading to the second floor of the senate wing. He was waving his arms energetically.

"Hey, what are you doing there?" shouted Pearce.

"I'm getting ready to fly," was the reply.

Pearce, used to handling odd characters among the droves of springtime visitors, stalled for time until he could reach him. "Where's your home?" he inquired.

"Heaven. I'm about to fly back there."

Instead he went to the psychopathic ward of a hospital.

A Farmer's Diary

In Defense of Sweat

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

YESTERDAY I read from David Grayson that "Happiness is nearly always the rebound from hard work." Immediately I remembered a remark of Great-Uncle Malachi's, "Every college man ought to dig one good ditch a year, just for what might ail him."

The homely work around a farm can be the source of real physical satisfaction. I hired a man to dig holes for my peach trees, but several rows of holes, and all the planting, I did myself.

The hillside where we dug overlooks the pleasant Honey Creek valley. On two sides it is rimmed by woodland. A clean, cool brezze was blowing and the sun shone warm.

Digging holes requires little thinking. Over and over again a man must sink his pointed shovel to the hilt and lift and hoist. Presently he sweats. Every muscle of his arms and chest and back is used repeatedly. Standing at the end of a finished row, he finds himself breathing hard, but as he leans a moment on his shovel and gazes up the slope at the measured piles of dirt—as he mops his streaming face and starts back uphill for a bunch of trees—he knows the taste and odor and feel of accomplishment . . . and it is good. His digging and planting experience gives dimension to his future enjoyment of his orchard.

Good physical work does not detract from any man's powers. So long as his ability is not overtaxed, it rather opens up a wider range of understanding to him. The taste and feel of sweat is as wholesomely to be enjoyed as those other earthy, sensual odors of the farm which poets are stirred about.

Lazy people miss so much more than they know! Most lazy men were never taught the joy of work. It used to be a saying in my old home community that So-and-So "had a sleight" at laying brick, or wielding a hammer, or doing any other manual task. The whole neighborhood was proud of that "sleight" and it augured well for the future of the lad who possessed it.

I believe every child should learn as many kinds of manual work as possible—and pride in doing every job well. There is, I am sure, a wholesome connection between control of one's muscular reactions and ability to think straight.

LEAPS FOR LIFE AMID SWIRLING ATLANTIC WAVES

Downs Tells of Breath-Taking Climb Up Destroyer's Side After Ship Catches Fire.

drowned.

I went up on the bridge. For the first time I had a good look at our ship. Her whistle was still moaning its dreary dirge and flames were roaring out of her stack. (Here fifteen lines censored.)

The sea grew increasingly heavy and a driving rain whipped over the scene.

Just before dark an English destroyer came up. Aldis signal lamps blinked their messages from ship to ship.

Then began a thrilling piece of seamanship. The English destroyer, despite the treacherous, heavy seas, nosed her way up close enough to the burning vessel so that survivors were able to leap down to her narrow steel deck. By this time the entire super-structure was in flames, forcing the crew and officers back to the stern.

In the next three hours we watched the destroyer maneuver up to the ship several times in that way, each time catching a batch of leaping seamen. Once there was a slight collision and we feared the worst but no serious damage was done.

The crew of the Lincoln worked valiantly at hauling survivors out of the icy, tossing waters. Some were too weak to help themselves when lines were cast to them and drifted away in their lifebelts as we watched helplessly. Seamen of the Lincoln, with lines tied around their waists risked their lives going overboard for some of these, but usually the men in the water were lost unless they had strength enough to save themselves.

Later we were signaled to search for stragglers, leaving the rest of the rescue to the other destroyer. Despite the possible menace of U-boats, our young commander ordered searchlights to sweep the water and we went about the rather heartbreaking task of looking for stray rafts and individuals in the waters.

In the hills of water we spotted a light. It was a flashlight waved by one of the men on a raft which had been afloat an hour. It required over half an hour to maneuver up to the raft. It smashed against our sides when we reached it. We saved only two of the six on it The other four were scattered and drifted rapidly away despite all we could do to reach them. One was particularly game. Each time we caught him in the searchlight we could see him waving as he bobbed in and out of sight among the hills of water When we finally got to him he was dead.

The burning ship was a great glowing coal on the water. The English destroyer had drawn away for the last time and signaled that it had taken off the captain—the last man to leave.

We were intructed to stand by until morning and see that the burning ship sank The British destroyer and the convoy moved off on their mysterious ways. The young commander, who had worked under great tension for more than ten hours stayed on his windswept bridge. I went below, picked my way among the survivors on the floor of the wardroom, found a spot in a companion way and went to sleep.

Whether the fire was the result of sabotage or an accident has not yet been made known.

CITY GETS BIDS FOR PAVING 3 CITY STREETS

Two Companies Offer Prices For New Pavement on Rhein, Sturges and Bowman.

Bids for contracts on the improvement of three city streets were announced today by Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton. Two Mansfield companies offered figures for the contruction of new pavement on Sturges avenue, Rhein avenue and Bowman street.

Crafton announced that contracts would probably be awarded on all three projects within the next few days but that work on the Sturges avenue job would be held up until right-of-way for widening the street is obtained.

Companies offering bids were the Mansfield Asphalt Paving company and George B. Herring and Son.

The Bowman street project would consist of paving the street between the Baltimore and Ohio and Erie railroads.

Bids offered were: Mansfield Asphalt, brick with slag cushion, $5,149.50; brick with sand-oil cushion, $5,269.50; concrete, $8,985.50; and asphalt, $4,285.50. Herring, brick with slag, $5,169.50; and concrete, $8,705.50.

On the Rhein street improvement from Sturges avenue to Wood street, the following bids were offered: Mansfield Asphalt, brick with seven-inch slag cushion, $10,369.20; brick with seven-inch sand-oil cushion, $10,600 20; concrete, $7,758.90; seven-inch asphalt, $8,798.40; six-inch asphalt, $8,405.70; brick with six-inch slag, $9,976.50; and brick with six-inch sand-oil, $10,267.50. Herring, brick with seven-inch slag, $10,926 50; concrete, $8,154 50; and brick with six-inch slag, $10,626.20.

Mansfield Asphalt offered the following bids on the Sturges avenue improvement; brick with slag cushion, $9,419 90; brick with sand-oil cushion, $9,631.90; concrete, $7,342 30; and asphalt, $7,957.10. Herring's bids on the same jobs were $10,062 90 for brick with slag cushion and $7,752 50 for concrete.

Crafton announced that the bids on the various types of construction were called for to allow property-owners their choice.

By Helping Each Other Right Here at Home, In Mansfield!

There are no Community Funds in dictator nations.

In Germany, Italy and Russia only the dictator and his government count.

In America PEOPLE count.

Never in its history has America needed men and women with strong bodies, high morale and patriotic devotion more than she needs them now. They—and not guns and munitions — are the first line of defense against the destructive forces from within.

Just as No Chain Is Stronger Than Its Weakest Link, So No Nation Is Stronger Than Its Individual Communities Mansfield Is Our Home Front and Our Defenses Start at Home!

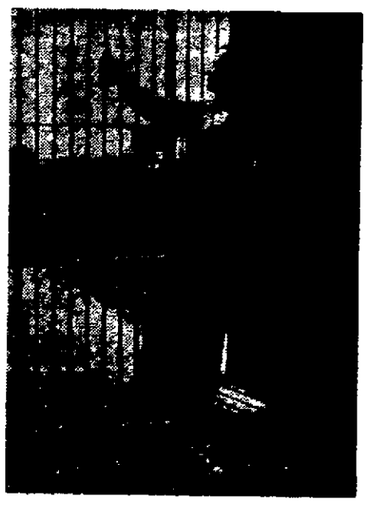
The Community Fund's 11 agencies this year ask for $64,375. Of this sum 47.2 per cent will go to citizenship training, character guidance and morale building; 19.5 per cent will go for building stronger bodies through public health program; 4.8 per cent will be set aside for child care, which builds bodies and morale at the same time; and 11.6 per cent goes to family welfare work.

All of these are potent factors in today's home defense.



It costs $300 a year to keep a man in prison . . . but only $10.37 a year to train a Boy Scout in the principles of good citizenship . . . "It's your flag and my flag, Boy, and its first line of home defense starts right here with you and me."

MRS. KEITH MILLER NAMED PRESIDENT

Child Study Club Members Meet at Susie Janis Home for Annual Election of Officers and Program Tuesday.

MRS. KEITH MILLER was elected president of the Child Study club at their annual business meeting held Tuesday evening at the Susie Janis home, Park avenue west road. Others who will assume duties in their respective offices for the coming year include Mrs. James Brown, vice president; Mrs. Lowell Bourns, secretary, and Mrs. Robert Crawford, treasurer.

Hostesses for the meeting last evening were Mrs. Lewis McCullough and Mrs. Robert Alexander. Fifteen were in attendance for the business and program session. Mrs. Brown presented an informative paper on "The Child In the Outside World," telling of the necessity of proper training to help the child with contacts from early childhood until they become an adult.

Plans were discussed for the benefit bridge party to be held on May 20 at the home of Mrs. Gordon Colby, West Third street. Proceeds will be used to send a child from the Richland county Children's Home to the annual Y. W. C. A. summer camp. Mrs. McCullough is general chairman of the party which will be held in the evening.

The next meeting of the club will be held on May 27 for installation of officers and a sealed program. Hostesses will be Mrs. R. O. Richards and Mrs. Robert Crawford.

Family Forum Members Hear State Speaker

Seven members of the newly organized Family Forum of Mansfield were in attendance last evening at the district conference on family relations held at the Ashland high school, Ashland. Forty attended the discussion program led by Mrs. Georgia T. Williams of Columbus, state director of family relations.

Those present from here were Mrs. Paul Ackerman, Mrs. Milo Hieber, Mrs. Harold Gorsuch, Mrs. J. M. Lehman, Mrs. LeRoy Stroble, Mrs. J. R. Stevenson and Mrs. G. P. Van Arnam.

Mrs. Williams spoke to the group, emphasizing the importance of discussion meetings where problems of the family could be worked out together. A film relating to the subject was shown and a youth panel led by Mrs. Williams was an interesting feature of the program. Four high school boys and four girls of Ashland participated in the informal session.

The next meeting of the Family Forum will be held at the Y. W. C. A. May 6 at 1:30 p. m.

Bride of March Feted By Office Associates Here

Five friends of Mrs. Eugene Almy, the former Kitty Jane Birch, entertained at a dessert-bridge in her honor Tuesday evening at The Woods near Ashland. Hostesses for the party, which was a bedroom shower, were Miss Lydia Gangle, Miss Ruth Gable, Miss Reta Hall, Mrs. Howard Barnes and Miss Eileen Logan.

The twelve guests present played bridge during the evening. Prizes were won by Mrs. Almy and Miss Marcia Roach. Luncheon was served at small tables centered with spring flowers.

TAL-PHI CLUB.

Members of the Tal-Phi club met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. O'Neil Musgrove, West Fourth street. Bridge was in play at two tables and score prizes were won by Mrs. Edward Bilsing, Mrs. Lowell Christman and Mrs. Paul Ritchie. Guests in attendance were Mrs. Roy Bose and Mrs. Ritchie. At a late hour luncheon was served with spring flowers decorating the table. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Herbert Garrett, Orange street, on May 13.

ENTERTAIN CLUB.

Mrs. Andrew Tomb, 326 North Townview circle, entertained members of her bridge club Tuesday evening at her home. One guest, Mrs. Roy Beck, was present. The diversion was played at two tables and score prizes were given to Mrs. John Newcomer and Mrs. Beck. Later a luncheon was served at one long table which was decorated with spring blossoms. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Newcomer, Lexington, on Tuesday evening, May 6.

CIRCLE MEETING.

Circle Five of the First Presbyterian church will meet Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. P. F. Haley, 620 Coleman road, for a dessert-luncheon. Mrs. F. E. Weaver and Mrs. C. A. McClure will assist the hostess.

Annual Dolly Madison Tea To Be May 6

Committee members of the Dolly Madison club met last evening at the home of Mrs. Norman Wolfe, Park avenue west, to complete plans for the annual tea which will be held in the ballroom of the Mansfield-Leland hotel on Tuesday, May 6 from 4 to 6 o'clock. Mrs. Wolfe is general chairman of the arrangements. Preceding the tea which is for members and guests, the regular business meeting of the club will take place at 3 o'clock at the hotel.

Assisting Mrs. Wolfe with the plans are Mrs. Clark Brook, program chairman; Mrs. Boyd Wierman and Mrs. John Daley, decorations; Mrs. Paul Mitchell, Mrs. Howard Sword, Mrs. Robert Morris, and Mrs. Howard Ripper, reservations; Mrs. Cecil Schill, Mrs. Sherman Glessner, Mrs. George McGinley, Mrs. John McNamara, Mrs. Don Orewiler, and Mrs. Clarence Fisher, reception. Reservations must be made Saturday.

Mansfielders Take Part In Church Meeting

Five Mansfield women participated in the first of four spring meetings of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Mansfield district of Methodist churches Tuesday. The session was held at the Ontario Community church. Mrs. E. C. Jenkins and Mrs. Charles Birch, a ccompanied at the piano by Mrs. H. D. Bishop, sang several numbers.

Donald McLaughlin sang a solo at the afternoon meeting accompanied by Mrs. Elsie Ireland.

Mrs. Charles White, president of the society from Mt. Vernon, conducted the business meeting. Three speakers, Mrs. W. J. Bungart, Rev. J. W. Dows and Mrs. Bliss Wiant gave talks. Two hundred delegates representing 25 societies were in attendance. Three more conferences will be held at West Lafayette, May 2; Gambier, May 6, and Cardington, May 7.

Lorene Hanlon Becomes Bride Of Mr. Paramore

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss Lorene Hanlon, daughter of Mrs. Marie Thompson, 160 Columbia avenue, to William Paramore, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Paramore, Ontario. The couple were married at the United Brethren church at Napoleon by Rev. D. Young, April 19 at 8 o'clock.

For her wedding the bride was attired in a tailored blue dress with matching accessories and wore a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Paramore attended Mansfield high school and Mr. Paramore attended Ontario high school. He is now employed at the Tappan Stove company. Miss Mildred Miller and Orie Rush attended the couple. They will be at home with Mr. Paramore's parents in Ontario.

Third Annual Dance May 7

Betrothal Announced

Word comes from New York City of the betrothal of Miss Dana Jenney, former Mansfield girl, now fashion editor of the New York Journal and American, and Anton Horvath, importer, who will be married sometime this summer. Miss Jenney, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Jenney of Shenandoah, has been fashion editor of the paper for the past two years and previously modeled for Harper's Bazaar. Mr. Horvath is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Achilles Horvath of New York City and is associated in business with his father. According to Miss Jenney the wedding may take place either in Mansfield or New York.

Thelma Hursh Installed As Worthy High Priestess

IN A BEAUTIFUL setting of palms, ferns, and beauty baskets of calla lilies and other bouquets of spring flowers, the impressive service for the installation of officers of the Naomi White Shrine, No. 10, was held Monday evening at the Grotto hall. The east was decorated with a lighted electric shrine emblem, the gift of Miss Thelma Hursh, who was installed as worthy high priestess, and Mrs. Edna Berlo.

Miss Hursh

The officers wore lovely formal gowns of white taffeta and corsages of yellow daisies and roses, which were the gifts of Miss Hursh to her officers. Installing officers for the occasion were Amelia C. Burke of Toledo, supreme worthy guide; herald, Bessie Speelman of Crestline; chaplain, Esther Moneysmith of Ashland; organist, Alfretta Bowden; soloist, Margaret Browder; installing officer for the honorary offices, Lenore Horn.

Those installed were Miss Hursh as worthy high priestess; Mrs. Berlo, noble prophetess; Milton Dye, watchman of the sheperds; Gerald Lombard of Crestline, associate watchman; Myra Culp, scribe; Gertrude Kerr, treasurer; Pearl Wierman, sheperdess; Josephine Barnes, herald; Earl Speelman of Crestline, king; Fern Wierman, queen; Nellie Phipps, first wiseman; Ada Steward, second wiseman; third wiseman, Elma Stevenson of Shiloh; Ether Mayberry, first handmaid; Clara Colbow, second handmaid; Dolores Lamneck, third handmaid; Miriam Gross, organist; Ardella Keefer of Ashland, guardian; Stella Luth, guard.

Honorary officers installed were Ethel Brubach, Frances Campbell, May Martin, Florence Roberts, Helen Louise Lamb, Cora Cover, Rose Berry, Irene Skelton, Thelma Hout, Mary Jane Bellore, Marie Swank, Rhoda Fisher, and Dolores Seybold.

Guests were present from Willard, Ashland, Shiloh, Marion and Toledo. Miss Hursh received many lovely gifts in honor of the event and was also presented with a birthday gift. The officers gave her an orchid corsage.

She was given a Bible from the supreme worthy guide and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Hursh presented her with a gavel. Following the ceremony refreshments were served by Mrs. Neva Denny and her committee. The luncheon was furnished by the officers.

A large three tiered birthday cake decorated with the Shrine colors, yellow and white, centered the table and tall lighted tapers in those colors added to the decorations. Mrs. H. B. Hursh, mother of the honoree, and Miss Helen Hursh, her sister, presided. A jeweled ring was presented to Mrs. Mary McFadden, retiring worthy high priestess, and also a jewel to Milton Dye, watchman of the sheperds. Mrs. McFadden was presented with an electrical gift by the officers.

The next meeting will be held May 26.

High Style Fashions, Fancy Work

By MARIAN MARTIN

"Come on out and play," invites this gay, casual sports outfit designed by Marian Martin. Pattern 9705 is almost a complete vacation wardhobe in one style, for it includes a captivating sun-tan frock PLUS a bolero to slip on for street or town wear. The dress alone is perfect for vigorous sports—tennis, badminton, golf. If your fabric is striped, the two front panels would look striking cut on the bias. The bodice is shaped in two smart points where it meets the strape; a buttoned halter in back keeps the whole frock firmly in place. If you like, the halter straps may be in bright contrast, with the short-sleeved little bolero to match.

Pattern 9705 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 dress, requires 3⅞ yards 35 inch fabric; boledo, 1⅛ yards contract.

Send Fifteen Cents in coins for this Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your Size, Name, Address and Style Number.

Send your order to The Mansfield News Journal, Pattern Department. 232 W. 18th St., New York, N. Y.

BLUEBIRD POTHOLDERS PATTERN 2823

Bluebirds in the kitchen—they'll make it gay. And since they're such practical potholders they'll make you gay, too! Do them in reverse colors as shown—use the predominating color of your kitchen. Pattern 2823 contains directions and charts for making potholders; illustrations of them and stitches; materials required.

Send ten cents in coin for this pattern to The Mansfield News-Journal, Needlecraft Dept., 82 Eighth Avenue, New York, N. Y. Write plainly Pattern Number, your Name and Address.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"What do you mean by that?" the gangster asked, and there was distinct uneasiness in his voice. "Are you going to turn me over to the police?"

"Oh, nothing so simple as that," Dicky rejoined airily. "You will find out that I am an artist, and I simply couldn't do a thing as commonplace as that. If you get yourself in trouble with the police because of your own stupidity after you get out of the car, that is not my affair. Now, Madge, I'll relieve you of that job you're on."

"Now you may take your hands away," he said and as I did so, with a movement so swift that I was not sure I saw it, he slipped the revolver from the man's ear to his side.

"Madge, please tie those shoes together with the hardest double knots you can manage," he said, and I obeyed him implicitly, although I was utterly befogged as to his reason for the request.

"Now hold the strings in your hand, and follow us to the door back here," he said, indicating with a nod the door through which he had entered. "Do you feel the train slowing down?"

"Yes, I do," I replied, for the change in tempo was distinctly perceptible.

"Then we must hurry," he said. "Get up, you"—I guessed that he prodded the gangster a bit in the side with the revolver, and the man came quickly to his feet.

"Now we'll walk along real friendly like," Dicky said, ranging himself at the side of the other man, so that only a close observer could see the revolver thrust against the gangster's coat. "Madge, you toddle right after us, and conceal those shoes by your dress as much as you can. I don't expect to meet anybody, but you never can tell. We'll be on the safe side."

"What are you going to do?" the man asked hoarsely. "Are you going to throw me off the train?"

"Your mind would run to that," Dicky mocked. "I can imagine it is one of your favorite pastimes, but, fortunately for you we are not so crude. Walk a bit faster."

"You're going to get out when the train stops," Dicky said inexorably, "and start walking away from the train. We'll give you your shoes, and I wish you joy of getting those knots untied—I haven't left even a nail file on you. You'd better not turn around until the train goes on, for I'll be on the steps with a gun leveled on you. You haven't any money, and you're ten miles from a town, so you won't be able to do anything much tonight. I'll keep your money and your papers safe for you whenever you want to claim them. Good-bye."

I saw Dicky clinging to the lower step, peering out into the darkness after the retreating form of the gangster while the train picked up again. But his luck—or his indomitable willpower—held, and when there was no more chance of the man's rushing back and climbing aboard again, he came up the steps, swept me into his arms, kissed me exuberantly, and then led me back to the seats we just had vacated.

"Now," I said severely. "Will you tell me how you maneuvered all this."

"You're sort of glad I did, aren't you?" he asked slyly.

"You'll never know how glad," I told him.

"Before I tell you," he shifted his voice to a sterner note, "I have a big bone to pick with you. I've a notion to thrash you thoroughly. You recognized that gangster at the end of the platform, and knew he was going to take this train. Didn't you?"

CLASS PARTY.

Mrs. Lloyd Armstrong, Springmill street, was hostess to 13 members of the Ruth Circle class of the First Christian church Tuesday evening at her home. Mrs. Clinton Berry was in charge of the devotional period and Mrs. John Fink led the business meeting. It was planned to send miscellaneous gifts to the orphans of the Christian Cleveland home. Contests were enjoyed and prizes presented to Mrs. George Brooker, Mrs. Earl Penny, Mrs. D. V. Wolfgang and Mrs. John McFern. The next meeting on May 27 will be held with Mrs. William Birmelin, Newman street.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, May 1.

A day in which the just rewards of labor, the "fruit of works" may be anticipated, judging by the lunar as well as mutual aspects of dominating planets. Superiors, elders, employers, those in high places may be disposed to proffer tokens of preferment, esteem and appreciation for services rendered. Public position, personal prestige and popularity may aid in putting the life and its fortunes in a place of stability.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a year in which their careers, fortunes and security for the future will be put upon a solid and enduring basis. This should come as a reward of merit, in recognition of work well done, with steadfastness, fidelity and practical worth receiving acclaim of superiors and the public as well.

A child born on this day should have sterling worth, and sound abilities and trustworthiness, and should secure its due rewards.

BUSINESS MEET.

Twenty-five attended the business meeting of the Chi Sigma sorority which was held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel Tuesday evening. Miss Naomi Stutz conducted the routine business and plans were discussed for the annual Mother-Daughter banquet to be held soon. There will be a rummage sale on May 10 in charge of Miss Mary Elizabeth Miller. The next meeting of the group will be a business session on May 20.

SURPRISE PROGRAM.

Circle Four of the First Presbyterian church will meet Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. I. W. Basinger, 129 Blymyer avenue. Mrs. Roy Gale will be associate hostess. A surprise program is being planned.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

CONCEALING A SUIT

Showing the entire distribution of your hand during the bidding—or at least all of your distribution which is biddable according to your standards—is not necessarily wise. This is particularly true if a No Trump contract appears to be the likely ultimate destination. Giving too much information to your opponents may help them in deciding what to discard when the crucial stage arrives. Keeping them slightly in the dark may cause them to throw away the very card or cards which determine the result.

That bidding won the top score on this deal in a duplicate game, resulting in the declarer taking one more trick than anybody else who played the hand at the same contract. West led his heart 6 to the K. South took two top spades, lost one to the Q, and a heart was won then by the A, last trick that the defenders got. South won the returned heart with the dummy's Q, then scored two more spades. East discarded clubs on both of them, desiring to retain the diamonds which had been bid, so South then was able to run four club tricks and the diamond A, making 5-odd.

Practically the same play occurred at other tables, down to the play of dummy's two set-up spades. On these the East players discarded only one club, then the diamond Q, holding four cards in the clubs which had been bid. Thus the defenders blocked off a fourth club trick and held the contract to 4-odd.

In one of those cases South bid his clubs first, and after North's spade call bid 2-No Trumps, North the game. In another South opened with diamonds, bid clubs on his next turn, then North 2-No Trumps and South game. Of course, bottom score for North-South came where North rebid his spades and South supported them to game.

Tomorrow's Problem.

(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

If West bids 3-Hearts to open this deal, South nevertheless reaches 6-Spades. West leads the heart A and then switches to the heart J, how would you in the South read his reason for that apparently very bad play?

200 PUPILS IN POSTER CONTEST

Police Recreation Club Stages Competition; Judging To Be Started Friday.

"Safety First" will be the theme of the first annual safety poster contest of the Mansfield Police Recreation club to be held Friday at 4 p. m. in Carpenter school. More than 200 pupils from Mansfield schools will enter posters in the competition.

Prizes will be awarded the best four posters in two divisions. The senior division will include the work of seventh, eighth and ninth grade pupils and the junior, fourth, fifth and six grade pupils. The recreation club will award prizes totalling $14.

Posters will be judged at 4 p. m. in the school library and will be displayed in the windows of the J. C. Penney Co. store on the Walnut street side next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Depicting different types of home, traffic and other forms of safety, the posters were prepared under the direction of Miss Florence Robinson, art director for grade and junior high schools.

Serving on the club committee in charge of arrangements for the contest will be Ernest Fuller, E. E. Hartnett and J. J. Miller.

GOING STRONG

LAWRENCE, Mass. — (UP) — Though Tristram W. Coburn is 91 years old, he still is an active bowler in the Masonic bowling league and often plays a game of indoor baseball.

DIPLOMAS TO BE GIVEN 254

Dates Announced For Nine Commencement Programs In Rural Schools.

High school diplomas will be awarded to 254 students in nine Richland county schools at graduation exercises beginning May 20 at Lucas, County Superintendent Glen Robinson announced today.

The number of graduates this year shows a decrease over preceding years, according to Robinson. Generally, the schools graduate between 275 and 300.

Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, Mansfield, First Lutheran minister, will deliver the graduation address at Lucas. Rev. D. N. Roller, First Presbyterian pastor, will give the address at Shiloh, May 21 and Rev. G. C. Heffelfinger of Willard, will speak at Union high school exercises May 22.

Shiloh, Butler and Lexington schools will all hold commencement exercises May 21.

Madison high and Springfield township high have exercises scheduled for May 22, and Bellville for May 28. Plymouth students will be the last to graduate sometime in June.

TWINS SHIFT CASES

BOSTON —(UP)— Attorney Edward Miller finished a case in superior court for his twin brother Samuel, also a lawyer, when a conflicting case occurred. Judge Walter L. L. Collins and opposing counsel weren't aware of the change but the brothers lost the verdict.

Broadway movie houses featuring big name bands are up in arms over Monte Prosel's scheduled competition at Madison Square Garden. He's lined up Benny Goodman, Charlie Barnet and Larry Clinton for the first jitterbug session, which the cinema palace operators figure will murder business.

Addison Randall, the cowboy star, is doing the niteries with Barbara Bennett Downey—and on crutches. Coast rumors had it he'd been attacked by an unknown assailant, but Randall says it was just a fall downstairs.

Salvatore Dali, the surrealist, will do sets for a Broadway musical next fall . . . The Artie Shaw-Margo romance is building.

MILLION FOR UNIVERSITIES STALLS BUDGET

Governor Demands Addition to Appropriation Be Lopped Off; Vote Held Up.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — An addition of $100,000 for university building improvements prevented a vote on the biennial appropriation bill today and helped presage delay in adjournament of the Ohio legislature

Gov. John W. Bricker threatened to veto all the universities' building funds if they did not have the million-dollar increase withdrawn.

The inter-university council, representing the five state universities, was reported meeting today to consider the governor's ultimatum.

The $1,000,000 raised to $3,200,000 the amount contained in the appropriation bill for university expansion.

Most of the increase, however, required a deduction from the state emergency fund set up in the bill by the house of representatives.

Senator Frank E Whittemore, Republican floor leader in the senate, said that now approximately $600,000 should be added to the emergency fund to make available loans for poor relief to the local governments.

Another increase of $600,000 in the bill, senate financial experts said, would throw the 1941-42 budget out of balance.

Senate leaders tentatively scheduled the measure for a vote tomorrow.

Meanwhile, the senate's Democratic minority caucused and indicated it would go along with the increased budget, provided the Republican majority approved an amendment prohibiting the expenditure of revenues in excess of budget estimates.

Although the house of representatives has voted to quit work May 8 and adjourn sine die May 20, Senator Whittemore said he did not see how the senate could complete its working program before May 10.

Still awaiting the senate's attention are bills to raise the safety standards of coal mines and liberalize unemployment insurance benefits.

The coal mine and unemployment compensation bills are the principal barriers between the legislature and adjournment, leaders admitted.

Up and Down THE STREET

Staff members of the John Simpson Times, junior high school paper, learned today that their paper won more honors than they thought in the recent Columbia university contest. The school staff was notified that the Times won the All-Columbia award for excellence of the advertising make-up. The paper previously won the All-Columbia title for its sports department. Edwin Cooper, a teacher, is faculty adviser for the advertising staff.

A Mansfield fisherman appealed to Sheriff Frank E. Robinson today for help in getting his fishing license back. The man, a railroad employe, said his car has West Virginia license plates, and Game Warden C. I. Kimmel, seeing the foreign plates, confiscated his Ohio fishing license on the grounds that he should have a non-resident license. The fisherman said he was at Charles Mill reservoir when the warden took his license about a week ago. He said he has lived in Ohio for several years, but purchases his auto license plates in West Virginia because his wife is there and frequently uses the car. The sheriff referred the complaint to Kimmel and Mansfield municipal court.

Eight pairs of old glasses Miss Helen K. Bechtel, Mansfield, sent to Ohio penitentiary for use by indigent prisoners today had brought her a letter of thanks from the institution physician and inspired her to start a drive for more unused glasses for pen inmates. Miss Bechtel said she found the eight pairs of glasses in her own home and believes others could be found in Mansfield homes. The glasses are repaired and fitted to inmates of the pen who are not able to buy their own.

GERMANS LAND BY PLANES ON EASTERN SHORE

Officials Fear Attempt To Grab Control of Island From Within.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — A search is being made for an unknown number of German parties believed to be at large in Greenland, it was learned today.

The search is being conducted by the Greenland authorities, who notified the United States government through the Danish legation in Washington of the reported presence of the German parties.

Natives reported seeing the Germans land in several parts of eastern Greenland from airplanes. Some of them came in planes which landed on the icecaps while others are believed to have been landed by parachute.

The Germans were seen as late as the latter part of last month. The number of them at large and their purpose is not known, but it was feared that unless measures were taken to put a stop to these activities sufficient forces might be landed over a period of time to seize Greenland from within.

It was this fear on the part of both the Greenland authorities and the American government which led to the decision to have the United States take over the defense of that territory.

It is assumed that the Germans landed in Greenland speak Danish fluently and probably have succeeded in mixing with some of the natives in the outlying districts.

American officials are hopeful the mere announcement of this government's decision to defend Greenland will be sufficient to put a stop to any further landings of German parties in that territory. However, American armed forces will soon be stationed there to make doubly sure that no attempt is made to seize the island.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—Sometimes I fear the movie prop-shops are lacking in sentiment.

One prop is just the same as another, except for intrinsic value, to be filed away and card-indexed against possible future use.

But any fan knows that one prop is not just the same as another, and some fans would give a good deal to possess certain items as keepsakes.

I got to wondering the other day what had happened to the cause of all the trouble in "The Letter."

ROBBIN COONS

Bette Davis wrote it, remember, and the whole picture centered on her efforts to get it back. It was a prop that gave the picture its title, ruined the heroine's life. Where is it today? Is it among the Davis souvenirs? Is it filed among the prop-shop's "letters and papers" treasures? Has it been auctioned, in these days of auctions for this and that relief, for a cause?

Nope, it's just gone. Maybe it's somewhere among the miscellaneous papers in the prop-shop basement, but try to find it—"it's easier to duplicate it, if we had a call, than to keep it," they tell you.

"Props" is meticulous about most props—especially until a film is cut and released.

In a special room are held the props used in current pictures on which there's the slightest possibility of re-takes: A. C. ("Whitey") Wilson, the prop chief, has under lock and key such precious items as the cheap drugstore perfume vial Anatol Litvik had Ida Lupino buy in "The Gentle People"; he treasures similarly some worn luggage and other items used in "Sergeant York" and a framed motto in German from "Underground." After the films' releases, these items will be treasured, though less acutely, each in its respective storeroom niche.

But the letter of "The Letter" is no more.

"Kitty Foyle" had a "historic" prop in that snow-storm-in-a-glass figure used as transition between flash-backs, and this one seems safe. Ginger Rogers has it as a souvenir, though RKO has several duplicates. The same sort of figure used significantly in "Citizen Kane" (are we in for a glass snowstorm cycle?) was broken before the camera.

PURGE STAFFS

Ohio Companies Fire Pro-Nazi Men In Latin-America.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Ohio companies are purging their Latin-American staffs of anti-American agents, many of whom have been found to be active Nazi supporters.

J. W. Vander Laan, district manager of the United States bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, said nearly 75 large Buckeye firms have ousted 100 commercial representatives as a result of the government's program.

Pointing out that there were at least 900 Ohio concerns with representatives in Mexico, Central and South America, Vander Laan added that the portion of Ohio firms found to have agents of questionable political connections was small.

Mrs. Shipley, News Writer, Succumbs At Fredericktown

FREDERICKTOWN—A newspaper correspondent in Fredericktown for more than ten years, Mrs. Nina B. Shipley, 73, died of a heart attack at her home here at 4 p. m. yesterday.

Mrs. Shipley provided The Mansfield News-Journal with Fredericktown news stories and phoned her last story—a death notice—yesterday morning.

She was active in a number of church and civic organizations in Fredericktown.

She is survived by her husband, W. B. Shipley; two daughters, Mrs. Eva Loney of Butler, and Mrs. Eloise Hagan of Mt. Vernon; and two sons, Kenneth and Duane Shipley of Fredericktown.

The body was removed to the Bollinger funeral home where services will be held at 2 p. m. Friday with Rev. Ousley Brown, pastor of the Presbyterian church, officiating.

MUST BE LOVE

Dora Seeks Application to Wed Her Eighth Husband.

NEW LEXINGTON—(UP)—Dora Love, 47, today applied for a license to wed her eighth husband, James Walpole, 67, of Somerset.

Her third husband was killed in a coal mine accident, the other six marriages ended in divorce.

DENY SCHOOL TRANSFER PLEA

Richland School Board Acts on Butler Appeal; State Reports on Examination.

A request of property owners in Pike township, Knox county, to withdraw from the Butler village school district in Richland county had been denied today by the Richland county board of education.

Meanwhile, a state examiner's report today showed findings totaling $223 involving the Butler school district's books following a special examination.

Included in the findings were two for $103 against the school board and seven for $120 in favor of the board.

County Superintendent Boyd Robinson, who is clerk of the county board of education, said the petition for transfer of a part of the Butler district was turned down because the petitions contained insufficient signatures.

He said 75 names were needed and the petitions contained only 50 signatures.

Largest of the findings in the examiner's report was for $100 salary due David Blumenthal who was discharged as a teacher before the expiration of his contract last year. The amount, due from the Butler board, represents Blumenthal's final month's pay.

The examiner found a total of $111 due the district board from Lawrence Severns, M. Kirkpatrick and Clarence Daulp who purchased school buildings and lands on credit. The examiner pointed out that a state law makes it mandatory for boards to sell abandoned buildings and land at public auction and for cash. The properties involved were the Eagle Grove building, a shed at the former College Hill school, and some land at the Burger school.

HOLD ELECTION, DINNER PARTY

Mansfield Engineers to Entertain Wives at Meeting.

The Mansfield section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers will hold its annual election and ladies' night dinner party Tuesday evening at the Fairway west of Mansfield.

Nominated for offices in the organization are C. P. Robinson for chairman; H. O. Whiteley, vice chairman; William C. Bruckman, secretary-treasurer; H. E Ashmead, publicity director; C. L. Lasle and H. N. Diller, members of the executive committee.

The party will get under way at 7 p. m. A "surprise" speaker has been booked for the after-dinner session.

REPORT BATTLE

Turkish Radio Broadcast Hints Naval Engagement.

LONDON —(INS)— Reports of heavy gun fire off the southern Turkish coast have reached Ankara, according to a Moscow radio announcement, the London Daily Sketch said today

The report said a naval engagement was believed to have taken place.

BLUE-BLOOD GUERNSEYS BRING FANCY PRICES AT SALE HERE

Blue-blood cattle were placed on the auction block at Raemelton Riding hall yesterday and drew some fancy prices as approximately 700 people, the majority of them prominent Guernsey cattle breeders from all parts of the nation competed as purchasers.

Forty-four Guernseys were sold at an average price of $410 each. Bethany-Homestead Farms, of Homesdale, Pa., owned by Byron Miller, bought three cows for a total of $3,675.

At the beginning of the sale a heifer calf, donated by Roger A. Black of Raemelton Farms for British War Relief, was sold for $300 to the Guernsey Association at Hopewell Junction, N. Y., owned by J. C. Penney.

Top price cow of the sale was Franchester Kindness which brought $1,700 followed by Raemelton Corking Duchess at $1,125 and Raemelton Triumph Carmen at $850.

Cattle in the sale were consigned by breeders from Ohio, Michigan and Indiana. Raemelton Farm sold 10 Guernseys, eight of them youngsters, at an average price of $517.50.

Louis Merryman of Sparks, Md., managed the sale.

Another feature of the sale was the manner in which it was staged. The pure-breds were paraded on a center platform surrounded with greenery.

Mort Granger acted as auctioneer, and Gale Heifner, Ashland breeder, with eight animals in the sale, led the Guernseys to the ring.

DIES AT HOME

F. W. Lehnhart, 85, Was In Flour Mill Business.

BELLVILLE—A life-long resident of Bellville and vicinity, Fred W. Lehnhart, sr., 85, died last night at his home.

For many years Mr. Lehnhart was engaged in the flour milling business in Bellville and Lexington. He was born near Bellville Feb. 5, 1856, the son of Peter and Mary Foss Lehnhart.

A member of the Presbyterian church and Casca Lodge No. 382, Knights of Pythias, Mr. Lehnhart was a cousin of the late John P. Altgeld, former governor of Illinois.

Survivors are a son, Fred W. Lehnhart, jr., and three grandchildren, all of Mansfield, and a brother, George Lehnhart, of Bellville.

Funeral services will be held at the Bellville Presbyterian church, Friday at 2 p. m. Rev. Glenn M Sauder, assisted by the Knights of Pythias lodge will conduct the rites. Burial will be in the Lexington cemetery.

CHURCHES ISSUE PASTORAL CALL

Lutheran Congregations Will Hire Wittenberg Student.

Three Lutheran churches in northern Richland county which have had no regular pastor since last February had issued a call today to Nevin Stover, a divinity student at Wittenberg college, who will be ordained as a pastor about June 1.

Stover, whose home is in Youngstown, is the present supply pastor for the three churches. He has not indicated whether he will accept the regular charge after he graduates this spring.

The churches seeking Stover as their pastor are the Clay Memorial church at Amoy, Oakland church on the Olivesburg road, and the Shiloh Lutheran church.

Government Takes Over Struck Steel Plant In Canada

OTTAWA—(U.P.)—The Canadian government, meeting the threat of defense-strike bottlenecks, took over the Hamilton, Ont., plant of the National Steel Car corporation today in what it said was a showdown between its war effort and "the interests of one man."

The plant had been strike-bound since Monday, when more than 2,700 employes represented by the Steel Workers Organizing committee (CIO) stopped work on vital war orders.

Under an emergency order-in-council, Ernest John Brunning was appointed controler of the plant and given complete authority to conduct the business.

The unprecedented government action came when Robert J. Magor, company head, failed to meet a deadline on a government order that he rehire George Tanner, SWOC local president, who, the company said, had been discharged because he was late for work.

The SWOC, which called the strike, contended that Tanner had been dismissed, contrary to the criminal code, for union activity. Sympathy walkouts had threatened to paralyze the steel industry, supplying materials to plants producing war materials.

DIES AT AGE 71

William E. Lindley Succumbs at Home In Lexington.

LEXINGTON—Following a protracted illness, William E. Lindley, 71, died early today at his home here.

He was born near Fredericktown and had spent his entire life in the vicinity of Fredericktown and Lexington. Surviving are his widow, Lillian, and two sisters, Mrs. Frank McMurry, Yonkers, N. Y., and Miss Lulu Lindley, Fredericktown.

Private funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the residence. Burial will be in Fredericktown cemetery.

Members of the Co-op club are suspecting sabotage somewhere along the line at their ladies' night party at the Mansfield-Leland . . . somehow all the sugar bowls contained salt. The first to discover it, however, didn't suffer seriously. He was a chap who put some "sugar" on his melon, but the effects weren't too bad. After all, a melon can be eaten with salt. So in a way, the saboteur's stunt boomeranged.

200 PUPILS IN POSTER CONTEST

Police Recreation Club Stages Competition; Judging To Be Started Friday.

"Safety First" will be the theme of the first annual safety poster contest of the Mansfield Police Recreation club to be held Friday at 4 p. m. in Carpenter school. More than 200 pupils from Mansfield schools will enter posters in the competition.

Prizes will be awarded the best four posters in two divisions. The senior division will include the work of seventh, eighth and ninth grade pupils and the junior, fourth, fifth and six grade pupils. The recreation club will award prizes totalling $14.

Posters will be judged at 4 p. m. in the school library and will be displayed in the windows of the J. C. Penney Co. store on the Walnut street side next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Depicting different types of home, traffic and other forms of safety, the posters were prepared under the direction of Miss Florence Robinson, art director for grade and junior high schools.

Serving on the club committee in charge of arrangements for the contest will be Ernest Fuller, E. E. Hartnett and J. J. Miller.

GOING STRONG

LAWRENCE, Mass. — (UP) — Though Tristram W. Coburn is 94 years old, he still is an active bowler in the Masonic bowling league and often plays a game of indoor baseball.

DIPLOMAS TO BE GIVEN 254

Dates Announced For Nine Commencement Programs In Rural Schools.

High school diplomas will be awarded to 254 students in nine Richland county schools at graduation exercises beginning May 20 at Lucas, County Superintendent Glen Robinson announced today.

The number of graduates this year shows a decrease over preceding years, according to Robinson. Generally, the schools graduate between 275 and 300.

Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, Mansfield, First Lutheran minister, will deliver the graduation address at Lucas. Rev. D. N. Roller, First Presbyterian pastor, will give the address at Shiloh, May 21 and Rev. G. C. Heffelfinger of Willard, will speak at Union high school exercises May 22.

Shiloh, Butler and Lexington schools will all hold commencement exercises May 21.

Madison high and Springfield township high have exercises scheduled for May 22, and Bellville for May 28. Plymouth students will be the last to graduate sometime in June.

TWINS SHIFT CASES

BOSTON — (UP) — Attorney Edward Miller finished a case in superior court for his twin brother Samuel, also a lawyer, when a conflicting case occurred. Judge Walter L. L. Collins and opposing counsel weren't aware of the change but the brothers lost the verdict.
